BOMB EXECUTIONER'S HOME

REBEL CHIEF SAYS AMERICANS CAUGHT WILL BE EXECUTED

Firearms Stock Is Good Election Buy Says Will

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 18.—An ex-governor and state leader had a fist fight in South Carolina. One called the other a Republican. Had the accused killed him for calling him that it would have been hard to convict him in any court where justice is really dealt out.

If there is fist fighting in the primaries what will it be in the election. You stock buyers better be buying Dupont's powder and Winchester arms.

Say, Oklahoma just pulled a good stunt to advance fields and aviation interest. They rounded up all the planes in their state and toured the whole state.

Hoover went fishing in Pennsylvania and caught 28 delegates in New Jersey. Some fishing.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Pa Newc believes that all parking records must have been broken in the vicinity of the Scottish Rite Cathedral last night. Even North Jefferson street hill, Mercer street hill and Highland avenue hill, were being utilized for parking of autos. There were hundreds of visitors at the Consistory from other cities, and the demand for parking space seemed to exceed all former records.

Pyle's derby, and the performance of Earl Dilks of this city, has centered interest on marathon running here, and many different kinds of marathon contests are being discussed. One is reminded of the days following Johnny Hayes' victory at the Olympic games years ago, when the marathan craze was revived in America, even in New Castle.

And talking of marathon running, New Castle lads who have any desire along this line must remember that the strictest training is necessary for such athletics.

Pa Newc pauses to take note of the performance of Edward Johnston, a pupil out at the Carr school in Washington township. Johnston has completed the entire grade school course with a perfect attendance record. Such a record for promptness is one that means something. It's a habit that will go far in later years. Wonder if there are any other pupils in the county with a similar record this year?

New Castle school board is planning to abandon the old Martin Gantz school next fall, when the new George Washington Junior High school is opened. Wonder what the Martin Gantz site will be used for? Any suggestions? We heard one suggestion recently that it would make a good site for a city-county building.

Pa Newc heard yesterday that a trip was made through the rural districts north of this city during the past few days by Ohio visitors who were seeking to purchase antique furniture and old dishes.

One year ago Lindy made his famous New York-to-Paris flight. The exact date was May 20, 1927.

Announcement that Supt. Kleckner and Chief Clerk Schlicher of the cement plant are going to New York to secure the safety trophy awarded to the local plant for a year's safety record without a single lost time accident is one that arouses enthusiasm for the proper dedication of the trophy when it is returned here. The New Castle plant has made a remarkable record in the plants of the big corporation. The workmen are soon to launch a new effort to equal the old record, and expect to succeed.

When the people go to Cascade Park Saturday afternoon they will find the place quite a bit changed since last fall. Every building has been painted and some new concessions and rides will be open to amuse the public. But the monkey who so delighted thousands of children and

Sandino Issues Death Warnings To Americans

Rebel Chief Says North Americans In Nicaragua Have No Safety Guarantee

ASKS WITHDRAWAL OF MARINE FORCES

Mine Official Reveals Letter Written By Sandino; Property Destroyed

(International News Service)

PUERTO, CABEZAS, Nicaragua, May 18.—Following close upon news of a battle between United States marines and guerrillas north of Matagalpa in which one marine was killed, Harry Emphlett, manager of the American owned La Lus and Los Angeles mine, announced the receipt of a letter from the rebels threatening death to all United States citizens residing in Nicaragua.

The letter was signed "Sandino" the leader of the Revolutionary army.

Amphlett, who is on his way to New York, made a trip to the Pis Pis river district where he found that the rebels after their first raid, had returned to the mine colony and destroyed all the buildings except two. Amphlett also found a letter from the outlaw chief.

The letter said in part:

"In case the government of the United States does not order the withdrawal of the pirates from our territory there will be no guarantee in this country for the North Americans residing in Nicaragua. At the beginning I believed that the people of North America were not in agreement with the abuse committed against Nicaragua by the government of Calvin Coolidge, but I am now convinced that the people of North America applaud the intervention of the Coolidge government in my country.

Threaten Death.

"It is for this reason that all North Americans who fall into our hands will have reached their end.

"The losses you may have suffered from destruction of your mine you may collect from the United States government, and from Calvin Coolidge who is responsible for the horrible

Dirigible Italia Completes Flight Over Unexplored Regions And Lands Safely

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, May 18.—The Italian North Polar exploration balloon Italia, commanded by Gen. Umberto Nobile, landed safely at 10 o'clock a. m. Believe Youngstown Girl Held For Ransom In Kidnapping Plot

Youngstown Police Without Any Definite Clues In Girl's Abduction

Three Suspects In Kidnaping Are Released On Identification Failure

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 18.—A mistaken idea that the father of Beatrice Rosenbaum, 10, was one of his five brothers who are in business here, was believed by Max Rosenbaum today to have caused the kidnaping of his daughter Monday. He believes the girl is being held for ransom but said that he has no money.

Police, who are believed to be working on a new angle to the case, refused to give out information even to the parents of the child today but admitted that they were without clues to the identity of the man who was seen to drive away with the girl in a small touring car.

The entire vice squad of the city under the direction of Chief of Police J. J. McNicholas worked on the case

Name McKee As New Policeman

Councilmen Elect Jackson Avenue Man As Member Of Force

DEADLOCK EXISTS ON NAMES OF TWO

Frank McKee, 1408 Jackson avenue, was elected a policeman by council during a formal session held at the city building this morning. He was recommended by Mayor William Gillespie after John Parker had been rejected and C. F. Suber and Jack Dunlap failed of election or rejection as council deadlocked two to two. Councilman Tyler was absent.

It developed that Parker had been voted down through a misunderstanding on the part of Davies and Reeves.

They gathered from a talk with the mayor that the name of Jack Dunlap was to be withdrawn which would permit the mayor get a new list and recommend Frank McKee.

Nothing Against Parker.

The mayor denied giving this impression but did agree that he desired one name removed from the first three and today's voting resulted in Parker, a former policeman, being rejected.

Davies and Reeves said they cast their votes today in order to "go along with the mayor's desire in regard to McKee" and said they had "nothing against Parker."

Finally it resulted in open statements by the mayor that "knowing the councilmen's minds it is useless to put up the name of Jack Dunlap."

He said that he would carry the name on the list and Davies and Reeves replied that they proposed to maintain their stand against electing Dunlap.

The votes was juggled in such a way today that there is still a vacancy in the police department as on some votes Suber received negative and also affirmative votes but each time it was two to two.

Mandell-McLarnin Bout Postponed Until Saturday

Tex Rickard Thinks It Advisable To Again Postpone Lightweight Fight

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 18.—Tex Rickard, promoter, announced shortly before noon today that the Mandell-McLarnin fight for the lightweight championship, scheduled for tonight, is postponed until tomorrow night because of rainy weather.

This was the second postponement. The battle was originally set for last night. Rickard was afraid it would rain last night and postponed the fight. But it didn't rain.

Instead it poured heavily this morning, and even though it cleared up toward noon the Polo Grounds was soaking wet and it was deemed advisable to wait another day.

Oregon Primary Will Be Test For Governor Smith

Oregon Voters Trek To Polls Today As Politicians Watch Closely

HERBERT HOOVER IS UNOPPOSED

Far West State Termed Very Dry And Protestants Rule Dominating Rule

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The rival presidential candidacies of Gov. Al. Smith and Senator James A. Reed clash head-on in Oregon today, and leaders of both parties in Washington are watching the outcome with an intensity of interest wholly out of proportion to the number of delegates involved.

Ten votes at the Houston convention won't make or break either Smith or Reed. What party leaders consider important about the Oregon primary today is that it is expected to throw some light on the much-debated question of Gov. Smith's religion as a political factor to be considered.

Oregon is a dry state. It is also one of those states wherein the Klan rose to a position of powerful influence and it was in Oregon that the legislature enacted the famous parochial school law, which directed that all children be sent to public schools as distinguished from sectarian and religious schools.

Expect Close Battle.

Therefore, the party leaders here reason that if there is any state where Gov. Smith's being a Catholic might militate against him politically

Senators Delay Final Action On Tax Reduction

Administrations Efforts To Enact $228,000,000 Reduction Slowed Down

HOPE TO REACH VOTE NEXT WEEK

Debates On Minor Political Subjects Cause Senators To Ignore Tax Measure

(Internstional News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The administration's efforts to rush a final vote on the new $228,000,000 tax reduction bill had slowed down to a walk in the senate today as senators from both parties ignored the measure to debate political subjects.

The proximity of the national conventions and the decision of administration leaders to adjourn congress on May 26 took interest off the tax bill and centered it on matters that may affect the political destiny of both parties. There were indications a final vote on the bill might not be reached until next week, although administration leaders expressed the hope daily of reaching a vote before nightfall.

In three days debate this week, two minor items were added to the measure and an amendment proposed to repeal the federal inheritance tax. Doomed to defeat, the mere introduction of this amendment tended to slow down action on the bill. The insurgent group, which supported the administration throughout the tax fight, were vigorously opposed to the repeal and helped delay the final vote so that in event the amendment were adopted they would be able to filibuster the whole tax bill to death.

DETROIT, May 18. — The Bremen fliers will leave Detroit at 4:26 p. m. today by train for Boston.

Have Crowded Day

A crowded day of sightseeing, which began at 11 o'clock yesterday was ended just 13 hours later when Baron Ehrenfried Guenther Von Huenefeld, Major. James Fitzmaurice and Capt. Herman Koehl returned to the Hotel Statler suite at midnight from the Olympia Arena, where they had witnessed the final bout of a prize fight card, after sitting through the banquet of Detroit aviation supporters which climaxed their triumphal tour of the city.

After a tour of the Fordson plant of the Ford Motor company the fliers were to visit the airplane shops in Dearborn with Edsel Ford today.

Then they were to be whisked back across town to the Deutsches Haus, where they were to have a more or less private audience with the principal leaders of the city's German-American citizenry. Then comes the departure from Detroit.

Japanese Plan To Protect Manchuria Against Invasions

Japan Will Disarm All Chinese Nationalists Troops That Enter Manchuria

(International News Service)

TOKIO, May 18.—A message indicating that Japan will disarm all Chinese Nationalist troops that enter Manchuria, was sent to both the Peking and Nanking governments today by the Japanese government.

This communication confirms advices to International News Service last Saturday that Japan would resist invasion of Manchuria by the south China forces.

The communication was addressed to Marshal Chang Tso Lin, dictator of the Peking government, and to Hwang Fu, foreign affairs commissioner of the Nationalist or Kuomintang administration. It stated that, inasmuch as Japan's interests are vital, the Japanese empire is prepared to intervene in the event that the peace of Manchuria is menaced.

The note states that Japan wants to remain neutral in the Chinese situation, but warns against a continued advance upon Peking and Tien-Tsin. It added that "the world is tired of strife in China and cannot permit Manchuria to be thrown into a similar condition of chaos."

FIND COLORED MAN'S BODY IN VACANT HOUSE

Body of Orlando Hurt, aged 35, a negro residing at 301 Preston avenue, was found about noon today in the dining room of the vacant house, rear 308 Mahoning avenue, by a little girl, Eleanor Wagner. He had evidently been dead several hours. Due to the fact that a pop bottle containing a white liquid was found near his body, the indications are that death may have been due to the use of poison liquor.

The police were notified on the finding of the body and Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch investigated. Coroner J. P. Caldwell was notified and joined the officers in making the investigation.

Hurt as far as can be learned, was not a drinking man, at least did not indulge to excess. He lived with his mother Mrs. Anna Hurt and two sisters at 301 Preston avenue, maintaining the home.. He left home last night after supper. They supposed that he had gone to work this morning.

Campbell Jury Returns Second Degree Verdict

Former Army Major Found Guilty Of Second Degree Murder; Mercy Recommended

ACCEPTS VERDICT IN CALM MANNER

Must Serve 20 Years To Life For Killing Of Wife With Hammer

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 18.—Indications were today that Cecil Clyde Campbell former U. S. Army Major found guilty by a jury last night of having killed his wife with a hammer in the Grand Hotel here on Feb. 6, last, would not be required to serve all of the prison term—twenty years to life—usually given to second degree murderers.

The jury, in returning a verdict of murder in the second degree, made a strong recommendation for mercy. Defense counsel immediately protested that such a recommendation would be of no benefit to Campbell because it was not within the discretion of the judge to give mercy. Judge Donnellan replied that he would "sanction" such a recommendation for commutation of sentence if it were made after Campbell is sentenced on June 4.

"While in my opinion the evidence justified a verdict of murder in the first degree, nobody feels more sorry for this man than I do," the judge said.

Campbell, who collapsed during the trial, presented a pitiful appearance on the stand. He declared that he had killed his wife, Mary McLean Campbell, with a hammer at her own

Robert Elliott's New York Home Bomb Wrecked

Home Of Executioner Partly Demolished By Two Bombs Early This Morning

BLAME RADICALS FOR NEW OUTRAGE

Elliott's Family And Guest Have Miraculous Escape As Walls Of Home Cave In

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 18.—Two time bombs which exploded with terrific detonations within a few seconds of each other shortly before two a. m. today practically demolished the Richmond Hill home of Robert Elliott, the executioner who pulled the switch which sent Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti to eternity. Elliott, his wife and two children and a guest miraculously escaped injury.

Police had only one vague clue to aid their investigation of the bombing. A red automobile was seen speeding from the scene shortly after the explosion.

Neighborhood Shaken

The force of the concussions was felt throughout the neighborhood of the Elliott home. Windows were broken, doors caved in and pictures thrown from walls. Hundreds fled to the street in scanty attire. Many were panic-stricken by the fear of an earthquake.

One of the bombs was placed on the front porch of the two-story stucco residence. The second was placed on the rear porch. The bomb in front of the house exploded first. The other followed a few seconds later.

At the first concussion the front wall of the house caved in. The sec-

Its just the way that we're living now, everyone's pushing themselves on high, pep 'er up, to the highest notch, never let down is the present day cry. Get things done and be on your way, start something else 'ere you've finished one, the call is for action and speed and pep, the answer is when can you get things done. Revolvers were alleged to have been drawn when a fight broke out among four officers, including Lavery, who had been fined $25 each by the police trial board for allowing a man sought for burglary to escape. Policemen parted the fighters and prevented further trouble, but not before Lavery was said to have landed a blow on Sergeant Michael Daugherty.

Daugherty swore out a warrant for the arrest of Lavery a short time later but, police said, no attempt was made to serve it. Lavery is slated to appear in police court today to face charges of assault and battery.

their elders has not yet returned to her cage. Everyone seems to deny all knowledge of her whereabouts.

Among Pa Newc's pet projects this summer will be the Public Square. He wants to see grass grow clear down to the curbing—not thin, sketchy grass, but a rich covering for the "verdant terraine". But tracks show that already people have been guilty of using short-cuts. To have grass and short-cuts at the same time is an impossibility. You should help.

In the city, we understand, there is a young attorney who is an omnivorous reader of detective fiction. Just why he chooses this particular brand of literature will be understood when he tells one that this is the way that he gets relaxation from the humdrum of an advocate's existence. Or, as he puts it, "I take my adventure vicariously."

Just how many people does it take to drive a car, anyway? Yesterday afternoon, at the intersection of North and Jefferson streets, a car with an Ohio license came along. In the front seat were the driver and two women. He attempted to turn up North street. But a woman objected and said that he should keep on going down Jefferson. The other woman insisted that he was right in the first place, so after clinching his teeth grimly the driver turned west on North street, just to settle the argument.

In a city dogs should not be allowed to run loose. Yet, along Highland avenue there are packs of dogs, running loose each day. Sometimes there are as high as 15 or 20 together at once. And they range from St. Bernards to Daschunds. People who find it necessary to keep a dog in the city should have it tied at least. Neighbors all over the hill complain of destruction of their gardens.

William M. White, who has recently returned from a trip to Florida, exhibited at The News office a sample of the tree moss that grows as a parasite on the trees of tropical countries. The moss exhibited was dry and dead like, and Mr. White states that is the character of it upon the trees except when it is soaked with rain.

There are factories in the South where the hairlike foliage of this moss is stripped off and used to stuff mattresses, states Mr. White.

Mr. White says that he saw a number of tracts in the South in low-lying territory that were sold during the boom and planted to orange trees and are now abandoned and the trees are covered with this moss, making them look very desolate.

One thing that was noticeable in Florida that we could well emulate in the North, said Mr. White, was the way they consider the wild flowers and shrubs growing along the roadside out from the cities. Never do the people seem to molest these adornments of nature. Flowers seem to be safe from depredation.

ROBERT ELLIOTT'S NEW YORK HOME BOMB WRECKED

ond bomb did less damage, only wrecking the rear porch.

Elliott, his wife, Delle, their daughter, Gertrude, 17, their son, Robert, Jr., 27, and a cousin, Thomas Lang, 26, were in bed at the time. They were thrown to the floor and covered with debris, but none was injured.

Elliott is the official executioner of New York state. He also officiates in that capacity in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. When Sacco and Vanzetti were condemned to die on August 23, 1927, in the Massachusetts state prison at Charlestown Elliott was selected as executioner.

Threat Letters

Before and after the executions Elliott received anonymous letters threatening him with dire punishment for officiating. For many months after the executions he and his family were closely guarded by the police.

Elliott told the police after the bombing today that he was certain the bombs were placed in his home by fanatical sympathizers of the two Italian radicals, who were found guilty of murder after one of the longest and most widely discussed trials on record.

Although they have issued no official statement, it is believed the police are inclined to agree with Elliott that the bombing was planned as a reprisal.

The authorities are certain that the infernal machines were time bombs. All radicals known to have violent tendencies are being watched closely by the police. Numerous detectives, members of the bomb squad and a company of fire-fighters arrived at the scene shortly after the bombing.

Elliott was the executioner at the electrocution in Sing Sing prison of Henry Judd Gray and Ruth Snyder, convicted of the murder of the woman's husbabnd, Albert Snyder.

OREGON PRIMARY WILL BE TEST FOR GOVERNOR SMITH

it will be in Oregon. Less than ten per cent of the state is Catholic, and that the religious issue has burned brightly in the state was exemplified by the rise of the Klan and the enactment of the school law.

Gov. Smith has never been in the state. Senator Reed has campaigned it, and is said to have a considerable personal following there. Some of the Democratic leaders here anticipate a close battle.

Incidentally, the Oregon primary furnishes the first clear-cut test of Smith against Reed. In California, there was a three-cornered fight between Smith, Reed, and Senator Walsh of Montana. Smith polled more votes than Reed and Walsh combined in California and Walsh was so decisively defeated that he subsequently withdrew from the race.

Clear Cut Test.

Reed stated at the time that he wished the Montana senator had withdrawn earlier, "before he muddied the water" by injecting a third candidacy in the California battle. That statement indicated the Missourian's wish for a clear-cut test with the New York governor, and he gets it today.

Republican leaders are no less interested in the outcome than Democratic leaders. The Republican "best minds" already consider that Smith is their opponent in November, irrespective of whether Smith or Reed snares Oregon's ten delegates today. And they are anxious to have some light thrown on the religious angle of the general situation. They figure Oregon is a good place to furnish it.

The thirteen Republican delegates to be chosen will go to Hoover without opposition, for no other candidate filed and under the state law the delegation goes to Hoover automatically.

and disastrous situation that prevails in Nicaragua today.

"If you are an honorable man you will be able to understand that the above mentioned is an accomplished fact. The pretext that Coolidge brings forward for his intervention in Nicaragua is that of protecting lives and interests of the North Americans and other foreigners residing in this country, which is a tremendous hypocrisy.

"We Nicaraguans are respectable men and never in our history have occurred such happenings as are taking place at this time. They are the fruit of the politics of your countrymen in our own country.

"The most honorable resolution that your country could adopt in this conflict with Nicaragua is to retire your armed forces from our territory thus permitting us Nicaraguans to elect our national government. This will be the only method of pacification in our country.

It depends upon government to conserve the good or bad friendship between our own government and you."

The letter was signed "Sandino" and bore the Sandinista stamp and seal at the top of which is the picture of a Marine with a drawn sword.

Report Haywood Dead In Moscow, Illness Victim

Heart Weakness And Diabetes Said Fatal To William D. "Big Bill" Haywood

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 18.—William D. ("Big Bill") Haywood, former Chicago leader of the Industrial Workers of the World, is dead at Moscow, according to word received here this afternoon, a Moscow dispatch to International News Service a fortnight ago said that Haywood was in the Kremlin hospital in critical condition from diabetes and heart weakness. The dispatch added that the former American Communist was believed to be dying. Haywood was 59 years old.

Haywood went to Russia eight years ago to avoid going to jail in the United States. He had the ideal of establishing a colony in Siberia and turning it into a modern Utopia. It was his plan to establish a "Soviet Within a Soviet" for Americans who believed in the Communist idea. Accordingly the Kuzbas Autonomous Industrial Colony was formed with Haywood as the leader.

But "Big Bill" had failed to count upon the frailties of human nature. The enterprise proved a failure because the colonists refused to become "Utopians." They were just plain human beings with a deep seated desire for money and the good things of life that money will buy. At a meeting of the colonists on January 2, 1923, Haywood resigned the leadership. Be broke down and sobbed as he told of the collapse of his life's ideal.

FISHING

WHEN Herbert Hoover came fishing in a Pennsylvania trout stream in the midst of his "fishing" expedition for the Republican nomination for the presidency, it established no precedent. Rather he was following a precedent set by several chief executives.

There have been candidates for public office who boasted more of their fishing prowess than of their states-craft. They remind the people that Washington, Adams, Arthur, Cleveland, Roosevelt, Coolidge and other presidents and near-presidents missed no opportunities to test their skill with the rod and reel.

Secretary Hoover is no recent convert to the sport of Izaak Walton. He is a true disciple of the patron saint of fishermen. He has angled in the waters of many countries for many varieties of fish, and, like the true devotee, has even grown philosophical on the subject. Some months ago in a conservation address he said:

A fisherman must be of a contemplative frame of mind, for it is a long time between bites. These interregnums irradiate patience, reserve and calm reflections—for no one can catch fish in excitement, in anger or in malice. The fisherman is by nature possessed of faith, hope and even optimism, or he would not fish."

Than fishing in the hidden fastnesses of Pennsylvania mountains there is no safer pastime for the politically ambitious. And the good qualities fishing, in Secretary Hoover's opinion, develop in the man are assets in politics.

TEN YEARS OF AIR MAIL

AIR MAIL in the United States has just passed its tenth anniversary. It is as difficult to believe that this important branch of the postal service is already ten years old as it is to believe that it has attained its present magnitude in the short space of a decade.

That first line, inaugurated in 1918, failed, not because the idea it represented was impractical, but because the public was not yet ready for this new and swifter type of mail delivery. A second attempt, on a larger scale, was made a few months later, and there has been no interruption since.

Air mail is not a play thing, neither is it an experiment. Air mail routes totaling nearly 10,000 miles are now in operation in the United States, and mail planes, owned and operated by civilian contractors, now fly more than 22,000 miles daily. The best proof that the air mail is widely used is the fact that frequently the mail is too heavy for one plane.

Business has found the air mail a valuable ally and individuals are using it more and more. But the air mail's greatest contribution has been to aviation itself. It has developed airways and airports. It has aided in the development of better planes. It has produced Colonel Lindbergh and other masters of the air. Because of its demonstrated reliability, a new confidence in aerial transport was created.

The rapid strides made recently by the entire aviation industry in America is attributable largely to the vision and energy of those who give to the nation its first air mail.

PROBLEM OF MISFITS

THE MISFIT or the subnormal individual has come to be a perplexing problem in today's social structure. In former years, when the pace was not so rapid, and when the pressure of earning one's living was not so great, the misfit and the subnormal got along fairly well.

Today efficiency has become the keynote, and the individual who cannot keep up with his fellows finds few niches in which he can fit. The problem then is one of adjustment to existing conditions. Thousands of individuals are held to be subnormal when the real difficulty lies in the fact that they are wrongly placed in the scheme of things. They struggle along against heavy odds, unhappy and unproductive, when through adjustment of the factors that surround their lives they might be made useful members of society.

Social service agencies and workers seem to have overlooked this field of service. An exception is New York City where there is a neurological institute devoted to this branch of social service.

What would be the rewards of this work? There is a possibility of making thousands of men and women happy and successful. There are thousands to be made productive now and independent in later years. Even the suicide toll might be curtailed, for a large percentage of suicides come from this class of unfortunates.

The idea, fortunately, is spreading that corrective work with misfits and subnormals can be of great value. More effort in this direction might prove a partial solution of the crime and pauper problems.

Love: The quality that makes a man think his wife is getting plump when she is getting fat.

It takes three generations or one darned good guess in the stock market to make a gentleman.

Scientist thinks the first man may have been a woman. It's unimportant. She's first now, anyhow.

The male belief is that woman's proper place is on that side of the seat where the steering wheel isn't.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7.12. Sun rises tomorrow 4:40.

Mother's Day is going to help mothers-in-law a lot. The mother-in-law has been an abused institution, as there are not more lovely characters than mothers-in-law. If there is one that is not exactly sweet it is because she has good reason to be otherwise. We are not kidding about the mothers-in-law.

"Eventually", observes an economist, "man will solve the problem of distribution". And then, we hope, Christmas will not be such a long, hard pull.

With the organization of strong credit organizations, the dead beat is going to have hard sledding in the future. If one crook beats a merchant out of a bill in this city and then drifts to another city, his record will precede or follow him and it will be off as far as getting goods without paying for them is concerned. Down with the dead beat and the bird who make you make him pay you.

Fraternity consists in more than meeting in lodge rooms, listening to instructions and spending a pleasant social evening with those of like views and kindred beliefs. It means more than visiting the sick, relieving the distressed and educating the orphan, great and good as those ministrations are. Real fraternity consists in living the principles taught in the lodge room every day in the year and putting them into practice in everyday life.

The old stall about the boss being in conference is cumulatively wearying. A lot of those old numbskulls wouldn't know how to confer.

The jail at Mercer is and has been fuller than it was ever intended to be. The jail is doing the best business of any industry in Mercer county. So many birds like to be in jail there that it is being advocated that a farm or something be provided to make those bimbos do some work to help keep themselves. Work will keep a lot of those babies out of jail, so scaring them with a threat of work may help some.

One of the candidates for President gives farm relief and not prohibition as the real issue of the 1928 Presidential campaign. In some places a lot of people don't know what farm relief is. They think it some sort of a new piece of farm machinery. But they know all about prohibition—that is, one side or the other. Wet or dry is the way they know about it.

LITTLE THINGS
By Franklyn Blanning

It is little things that make me glad;
I hold more joy than I ever had.
An empty heart for Beauty reaches
As the sea for sand on whitened beaches.

There is the city in the Spring;
It has a song of its own to sing.
There is the park for all to see
With promise on each budding tree.

There are robins on grassy bed
And blue of soft sky overhead.
There are children in the sun—
A golden spot for everyone.

There are dandelions near the walk;
On tennis courts they're laying chalk.
There's chirping where a nest is swung,
All a part of the song that's sung.

It is Beauty, and the secret's told,
As earth its rebirth does unfold.
It is little things that make me glad;
I hold more joy than I ever had.

An exchange informs us that some vegetables dislike certain persons. We imagine we have a pretty good idea what vegetables are, and any indication on their part to start high-hatting us will be met with the emphatic declaration that the distaste is mutual.

A Pittsburgh man in his petition for a divorce declared that his wife and her mother went on a honeymoon trip when he was married and he had to sit at home and work for the money it took for them to have a good time while away from him. In addition to this indignity his wife struck him in the face, blackening one of his eyes, scratched his face, threw his clothes out of the house and said she did not want to see him any more. Sound the almo! Pow! Pow!

A lot of people are still hoping and thinking that President Coolidge will still run for President. Well, if the politicians have their way things will not be so good after the election in November. Coolidge would be the safe bet to win this fall. Hoover has been too active and naturally has a lot of enemies who will knife him, but he will make a good President if elected.

We came near getting licked over a set of false lost teeth once ourselves. We also got licked on account of other things.

THE SAME MAN OUTSIDE

It had been years, according to neighborhood gossip, since the town grouch had uttered an unnecessary word, except to his dog and his banker. If a spark of sociability existed in him, it was said, it was for the dog. So when the animal appeared on the streets one day with its master, and minus its tail, the banker was appointed a committee of one to find out what the trouble was.

"What became of your dog's tail?" quizzed the banker.

"Chopped it off," replied the grouch. "He was always waggin' it at somebody."

Chicago Thinks Hoover.
Going Too Far.
Where Was The Soul?
How Civilized Are We?

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

This is written in Chicago where they HOPE Gov. Lowden will be nominated but BELIEVE Hoover will be the Republican nominee. Experienced politicians especially believe it.

As for Gov. Smith his nomination is a fact. Well informed men in Chicago including many NOT Democrats believe that it will be hard to beat him.

Japanese troops raid a missionary school with the United States flag on it, take the Chinese Christian teacher and Chinese students to jail.

They act about as Americans or British would act if they found Chinese or Japanese teaching their religion to Christians.

In Niagara Falls Jacob D. Hanson, secretary of the Elks lodge was driving on the Lewiston high road late at night when three men not in uniform ordered him to stop. He thought they were highwaymen and drove on to escape attack.

But they were Federal prohibition officers and shot him through the head, blinding him for life. He may die.

The grand exalted ruler of Elks sent word from Boston that Elks going about their business legally—Mr. Hanson had no alcohol in his automobile—should not be shot and blinded and "a fuss must be made." It was made. 3,000 protested in mass meeting..

It is fortunate that Mr. Hanson happened to be an Elk with a grand exalted ruler back of him otherwise little would have been heard about this hooting and blinding.

We have prohibition with us and it is going to stay.

The bootleg and crime waves that come with it are bad enough. Shooting Elks through the head is going too far. Wouldn't it be a good idea for Federal agents to make sure that a man is a bootlegger before shooting him?

A Swedish scientist, Prof. Nystroen in three cases has brought back to life men who had droped dead from heart stoppage due to embolism.

A long slender knife sinks in and remove the obstruction. Adrenalin is injected into the heart, salt into the veins and after seveal minutes of artificial breathing the "corpse" becomes once more a living man.

What did the soul of man do in the meanwhile? Did it start for the other world and come back again after Dr. Nystroen finished his work? Or does the soul hang arouund the body for a while to make sure that it is really dead?

What is our civilization, apart from an artificial picture that we paint to flatter ourselves? What would it look like seen as it really is?

This country for instance spends half as much for education as it does for cigarets. The other day in New York city five gunmen abandoned an automibile with many thousands of dollars stolen. Policemen pursued them and the crowd that gathered proceeded to steal the money that the bandits had left in the automobile each struggling for his share of it.

How many of us are law-abiding citizens because we are afraid to be gunmen or because we think the gunman business is unprofitable? Which is it

Dr. Huntington of Yale recently announced in the Yale Review "The upper classes in the United States are dying out."

That's bad enough if you happen to know what the upper classes ARE. The lower classes are not dying out and threaten to swamp the upper classes completely. That's really serious.

It would be too bad to have such men as Abraham Lincoln, Clemenceau, Lloyd George and similar lower class type dominate the earth.

Kemel Pasha high boss of Turkey decides that the Turks shall adopt the alphabet in use among a majority of civilized nations including ours.

Perhaps Germany will take the hint and abolish her unnecessary complicated alphabet responsible for so many pairs of spectacles on little boys and girls.

And possibly the United States and Great Britain will have sense enough to adopt the metric system of weights and measures as they should have done years ago.

THE AUTOMOBILE

W. P. Herbert, of the Chandler Distributors Company, furnishes some interesting statistics about the automobile.

Twenty-five years ago the motor car was still an experiment and regarded by many as a toy or a fad.

Very few manufacturers were producing efficient machines and those were fashioned after the familiar buggy.

But at the beginning of the year 1927 there was an automobile registered for every five persons in the United States, or 24,589,249 motor vehicles.

Fifty-five per cent of the families in the United States own motor cars. The motor industry pays about $6,000,000,000 a year in wages to nearly 4,000,000 persons. Taxes that amount to $700,000, are collected from the industry, which ranks first in the country in the value of its products and third in exports. About 14 per cent of all the rolled iron and steel of the country is used in manufacturing automobiles.

Fifty per cent of the plate glass produced in the United States, sixty-three per cent of the upholstered leather and eleven per cent of the hardwood used here, besides eighty-four per cent of the crude rubber used in the country goes toward this industry.

Seven and one-half per cent of the total exports are represented by the automotive industry.

The automobile is not only a luxury. One can hardly transact his business today without it.

Five hundred railroads in the United States and Canada use this service and many more are using motor buses. Thousands of firms are using motor cars and trucks for delivery purposes.

The automobile has brought town and country closer together. It has thinned the dense population of the major cities.

It has been a boon to the farmers by making possible rapid transportation of their crops to market. In spite of the enormous growth of the industry there is still a lively market both at home and abroad for cars. The replacement market is getting larger constantly, as well as the two-car field.

The immense growth of the Ford Motor Company and the General Motor Company is well known. Who shall say what is the future of the automotive industry?

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE PERUVIANS.

No public school reader would be complete without "Pizarro's Address to the Peruvians." No education could be considered as a liberal education without the reading of Prescott's "Conquest of Peru."

Peru is a rich country—not in money, but in natural wealth. The Spaniard did not take but a tithe of the wealth. The great return for man's work is yet to be realized. The work has only begun. Just now the Peruvians are interested in building railroads.

The recent arrival of nearly 1,800 tons of steel rails at Iquitos, Peru, is significant. This port is about 2,300 miles up the Amazon River and is the capital of the Peruvian Department of Loreto as well as being the metropolis of the upper Amazon River.

The Ucayali River, extending several hundred miles to the foothills of the Andes, provides navigation from near Iquitos to the river settlement of Pucalpa. This is to be the final destination of the rails. It is from a point on the Ucayali that a railroad is to be constructed that will connect the river with the Cerro de Pasco Railway, which has long operated from the heights of the Andes to Pacific coast of Callao. The distance from the Ucayali to the Cerro de Pasco Line is about 300 miles.

Several concessions from time to time have been granted by the Peruvian Government for linking the railroads of Western Peru with the Ucayali but so far the enterprise has not gone beyond the initial stages. The arrival of rails, however, indicates that work is now resumed. In this connection, it is interesting to note that the railway supplies were shipped from Antwerp, Belgium, on the German Steamer, "Ophelia."

Another activity which has been operating at Nanay, about ten miles below Iquitos, is that of a Boston corporation which is cutting and sawing timber. This lumber is loaded at the Nanay Mills and sent direct to Boston and other outside markets. With the renewed activity on the railroad project it seems likely that the lumber company will find a local market for ties, bridge materials and other forms of lumber. Much of the output of this saw mill enterprise is mahogany.

THE DISSATISFIED GOLFER

Unto a golfer sick with shame
Late one evening the devil came.
And the Old Boy said with his oily leer.
"Why are you sitting grieving here.
What on the earth do you want to do
Would you sell your soul for a seventy-two?"

The golfer cried to the grinning Nick,
"For a seventy-two I would sell it quick."
"Done," said the devil. "Put it thar!
Tomorrow you'll shoot the course in par
Now get to your bed and rest content,
I'll see you later"—and out he went.

True to his bargain the devil kept,
From tee to tee that golfer stepped
Making the short holes and the far
As had been promised to him, in par.
Twice he had putts for a birdie three,
But more than he asked for could not be.

His friends rejoiced, as good friends do,
But he shook his head at that seventy-two.
"Once I was stymied by a tree.
There were two short putts which I missed," said he.
"And but for the rotten luck that's mine
I'd have shot that course in a sixty-nine."

All that is left to be paragraphed
Is that deep in Hades the devil laughed!

A FINE CONTEST

Harvard and Yale battled to a glorious finish in the first inter-collegiate brain-working contest in history. Long ago it was determined and re-determined which college could hit the hardest, throw the farthest, inflict the most bloody noses, break the most bones and hit a ball hardest with a bat. Then it occurred to some original individual to determine, if possible, which college educates human beings the best.

Harvard and Yale have started the idea on its way. I hope every college in the country will get into this new and exciting game. No name has been devised for the sport as yet. Perhaps it will be called "Education." Conservative college folk and nearly all the old grads will protest against a college's going in for education, but you can't tell. Maybe the idea will spread in spite of the alumni.

* * *

The Harvard-Yale game was just a starter. It was a primitive bout, confined to one subject. The boys sat down in their respective classrooms and, after exchange of compliments over the wire by the professors, pitched into the job of answering some heavy questions in English literature. There was a lot about Chaucer and the Lake Poets and the Oxford Movement.

It was a good start. But as the game develops, it will be more thoroughly organized, and some first-class rules will be adopted. The questions will be made to cover a more general field of knowledge, so that the education of contestants may be really tested.

Let me suggest. Who ran for the presidency against Harding, and why? What is a fair amount for a young man to spend (a) on the courting of a girl whom he finally marries, and (b) on a girl who marries his rival and afterwards divorces him? Write a model letter to Father, mentioning allowance in a convincing and non-irritating manner. Who invented (a) the saw, (b) the see-saw, (c) the saw about the ostrich hiding its head in the sand? Distinguish between and among a nightingale, a martingale, a half-gale and a gale. Name in the order of their appearance: (a) the most prominent man who did not discover the North Pole, (b) the most unprominent citizen of Chicago, (c) the most noted halfback fifteen years after his last game. Name the champion heavyweight pugilist of 1900, the champion bladder-blower of 1927, the champion marathon dancer of 1928, the worst novelist (excluding Dreiser) of the last decade, and the saddest horn-blower of American birth. How high is butter?

Minister Appeals School Teacher's Case To Board

In behalf of a former teacher in the New Castle Schools, Miss Helen Lewis, Rev. Samuel L. Maxwell, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church appeared before the New Castle School Board on Thursday evening to protest over what he termed "unfair and unjust treatment" of the teacher and to ask that proper recompense be made to her.

Rev. Maxwell had his statement of protest prepared and read it to the board, interspersing explanatory remarks now and then. In it he stated that Miss Lewis had been a teacher in the New Castle Schools for nine years prior to the opening of the present school term.

Asks Leave Of Absence

On June 10, 1927, he stated that she had asked for a leave of absence from the schools here to attend Johns Hopkins University. She attended Johns Hopkins during the summer session but a major operation made it impossible for her to continue through the winter term and she attended Edinboro Normal School. Rev. Maxwell stated that no leave of absence had been granted, but that the superintendent had assured her that such was not necessary.

On December 30, 1927 Rev. Maxwell said that Dr. Green had written to Miss Lewis stating that the second semester would start on January 30 and assured here that she would be welcomed back to the New Castle Schools. On January 11, Dr. Green wrote her and said that owing to some changes in the Aiken School where she had taught, that it would not be possible for her to start until March 1, thus, according to Rev. Maxwell, depriving Miss Lewis of a month's salary.

Shortly after that, Miss Lewis came to New Castle to see about the case and Dr. Green told her that she was to take the place of Miss Blucher who was leaving the system. Miss Blucher had been teaching art in the 5th and 6th grades, while Miss Lewis had taught elementary subjects in the second grade. Rev. Maxwell said that Miss Lewis had protested that she was not fitted to take the place of an art teacher, and asked why she was not given her old place back. She was informed that Miss Alice Schu had been placed in it.

Saw Superintendent

Rev. Maxwell stated that he had visited the superintendent and he had promised to look into the case again. On February 11, 1928, Miss Lewis wrote to Dr. Green saying that she would not take the place offered her and on February 16, the board elected Miss Schu to the vacancy.

Rev. Maxwell gave three reasons why Miss Lewis should be recompensed for her loss. First that it was unfair and unjust to ask her to teach art when she was not prepared for it, second that it was unjust and unfair to put a substitute in her place when she had been teaching the second and third grades, and third that she had been deprived wrongfully of a month's salary.

It was 12:45 a. m. when Rev. Maxwell presented his case and at the conclusion, Mrs. Nothdurft moved that because of the lateness of the hour that action be postponed in the matter until a future date. The board then adjourned.

Following the adjournment, Dr. Green said that he had the resignation of Miss Lewis on file and that following the resignation he had recommended the election of Miss Schu. He also said that if the board wished the history of the case he would be glad to give it.

Full Time Medical Inspector Elected

School Board Names Dr. Mary J. Baker To Position, Thursday

Because of the state requirement that a school district must either have one full time medical inspector or three half time inspectors, the New Castle school board decided on Thursday evening to employ a full time inspector. Dr. Mary J. Baker, who was medical inspector some years ago, was elected.

For the past several years Dr. Mildred Rogers and Dr. Ralph Campbell have acted jointly as medical inspectors. Neither one wished to assume the full time duties and were not applicants for the position. Dr. Baker will assume her duties at the beginning of the next school year.

Resolution of Appreciation.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Rose M. Nothdurft, a member of the board, the following resolution of appreciation was passed concerning the work of Dr. Mildred Rogers:

Resolved: That the outstanding work of Dr. Mildred Rogers during the three years of her work as medical inspector of the New Castle schools through her human interest and resourcefulness, as well as her ability to enlist the help of other physicians and her club associations in making possible the removal of adenoids and tonsils when parents were unable to pay for operation, makes it a matter of deep regret to the school board that Dr. Rogers' growing practice renders it impossible for her to give the full time service which the state requires of this school district.

NO FAD.

About 30 years ago when "horseless carriages' first began to be seen on the road there were plenty of folks to stand on the curb and say "it can't last it's only a fad." They are the ones who always lose in the big advancement of life because they lack imagination. But we are slow to learn and there are those today who put the airplane in the fad class.

Now comes the sales manager of an airplane firm and tells the world that airplane production in the United States has increased four times in the past year.

STATE, PIONEER IN PAPER MAKING; HAS 13 BUSY MILLS

Employs 7200 With Annual Output Valued At $60,000,000; Much Wood Imported

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, May 18.—Pennsylvania, home of the first paper factory in the colonies, today has thirteen pulp mills in operation, according to a study made by the Department of Forests and Waters. The capital investment in the industry, dependent entirely upon the forests, is $50,000,000 and the value of the annual production reaches $60,000,000.

The first paper factory was established at Roxborough, now a part of Philadelphia, in 1793. One of the owners became State Treasurer and another Attorney General.

David Rittenhouse owned a half interest in this pioneer paper mill and his partners were the celebrated William Bradford and Thomas Tesse. David Rittenhouse was State Treasurer in 1777 and William Bradford was Attorney General in 1791. The paper made in this mill was from rags and turned out in single sheets by hand labor. Pennsylvania can lay claim, not only to the first paper mill among the colonists, but also the first soda pulp mill and the discovery of the sulphite process of pulp manufacture.

First Patent

A patent was taken out in 1830 by Louis Wooster and Joseph E. Holmes, of Meadville, for making paper pulp from wood. They used slacked lime and aspen trees in the process. This is not only the first record of making paper pulp from wood in Pennsylvania, but the first definte record of its manufacture in the United States, according to researches of State Forester Joseph S. Illick.

The first experiments with the sulphite process in Pennsylvania were made by Benjamin Tilghman, of Philadelphia, in 1865.

Today there are thirteen pulp mills in Pennsylvania. Blair county has four. York and Elk counties two each and there is one mill in each of the six counties of Erie, Potter, Clinton, Monroe, Montgomery and Philadelphia. These pulp mills show a capital investment of $50,000,000 and annual products worth $60,000,000. The industry employs 7,200 persons and the wages and salaries run approximately $12,500,000 annually. They consume 420,000 cords of pulp wood annually. Seventy per cent of this is imported into the State and thirty per cent is homegrown. The principal species used are softwoods, including spruce, hemlock, balsam fir and yellow pine.

It is estimated that 500,000 acres of well-managed forest land will be required to maintain the pulp mills of Pennsylvania and supply them continuously with wood. The pulp companies now own about 100,000 acres of woodland in the state.

The largest machine for making book paper in the United States is located at the plant of the P. H. Glatfelter Paper Company, of Spring Grove, York county. This machine makes a sheet of paper 168 inches wide at the rate of 600 feet per minute.

Contend Smith's Supporter's Spend Over Ten Million

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The organization behind Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York has spent $10,000,000 since 1924 in an effort to win him the Democratic presidential nomination, Senator Heflin (D) of Alabama, charged on the floor of the senate Thursday.

Heflin criticised Smith for naming George S. Van Namee a New York public commissioner, as his campaign treasurer. Heflin charged Smith in naming Van Namee had taken a "tip" from Frank L. Smith of Illinois, whom the senate refused to seat because he accepted large contributions from public utilities while serving as public service commissioner.

State Aid Home Economics Class For Senior High

In a communication from the state department of public instruction received Thursday morning, the New Castle school board is authorized to install a state aid home economics department in the senior high school.

The communication stated that the appropriation necessary for the work had been made, but that the installation would have to be approved by these authorities. This is in reality federal aid and will be a Smith-Hughes course, similar to trade courses, except that it will be home economies instead of trades such as machinists, electricians and the like.

Reconsider Action For Mahoning School

Because of a misunderstanding of some of the school board in the action of April 2 in discontinuing the home economics and industrial arts departments in the Mahoning Junior High school, the action was reconsidered Thursday evening.

A. C. Hyde, a member of the board, stated that the parents of the pupils desiring to take such subjects did not wish to be put to the expense of sending them to the Franklin or the Washington Junior High schools next year, and ways and means of remedying the situation will be discussed at a later meeting.

Nearly 200 Students Need Special Course

Under the state law it is required of the superintendent of schools to submit a report to the board showing the number of students in the school district requiring special training. This report was made Thursday evening and shows that in this city there are 197 such pupils.

At the present time there is but one class devoted to special training for students of this kind, this being the Opportunity class of the Lincoln-Garfield school. It is probable that other classes of this kind will be installed soon.

"Miss New Castle, The First" About Ready To Make Flight

Failing to be discouraged by the fate of the plane that they built last year, Lin Gilkey and Joe Pitzer, after working for months on the new plane have it about ready to take to the air and it looks as though such dauntless determination will be rewarded this time.

When the present plane arrived from the factory is was nothing except a box of pieces of wood, wire, bolts, etc. These dauntless lads who spend their days as mechanics at the Hoye garage on Highland avenue have turned to the task and night after night have spent much time until now these bits of material have taken shape and form one of the neatest little ships that we have ever seen.

The boys have decided to call the product of their hands and minds "Miss New Castle, The First" since it is the first airplane really constructed in New Castle. But on account of its size and its appearance it has been nick-named "The Autofly."

The machine is equipped with a three cylinder, 40-horse-power Anazana motor of same type as the one that Chamberlin flew to New Castle with the exception that his was a Lawrence motor of 60 horse power. The plane itself is very similar to the one that Chamberlin used, being a little smaller in proportion, being about 2 feet shorter than the Flivver plane the noted flyer used.

The present plane has a fuselage length of 13½ feet and its entire length from the point of the nose to the tip of the tail is 16 feet. It has a wing spread of 20 feet and the circumference of the body is about 10½ feet at its largest girth. It is of a bi-plane type and has but one seat, the seat for the pilot. In construction the plane is unusually light, weighing but 640 pounds including a 180 pound pilot. The plane is of the Lincoln type of design and is the smallest practical airplane in use. Its convenience of size is especially shown when it is known that it can make a landing easily on an ordinary highway or street.

Vic Hoye says that when a year or so ago the boys began to build the plane that he was quite skeptical but is now convinced that the plane will be a success.

He says the boys deserve a great amount of credit for the perseverance they have shown in working at their plane. He says that they have worked hours and hours on the machine and that it is entirely the work of the boys, they having financed the project entirely themselves. He says that he has promised to furnish them with gas and oil. It is said to be able to make about 30 to 35 miles on a gallon of gas.

Although the machine is chiefly the product of Lin Gilkey and Joe Pitzer, the two other mechanics of the place have spent much time and skill on the plane. They are Paul Lusk and Joe Rustino. Although most of the parts came ready to assemble it still remained quite a task and much of the material was secured locally such as the fabric with which the wings and fuselage is covered and the aluminum cover of the engine, material for the upholstering, etc. The work of assembling the machine included the splicing and soldering of wires, turnbuckles, etc. The most difficult task was the lining up of the wings, for the success of a ship depends upon the exactness with which the wings are lined up with the rest of the machine.

Joe Pitzer who plans to take the machine up first has had considerable experience in the air, having been up about 50 hours all told, the amount required to secure a commercial license for a pilot. Hoye field about 2 miles out on the Youngstown road just east of Parkstown will be used for the trial flight. Mr. Hoye says that they will be ready to fly in about 10 days. They are delayed at the present by the breaking of the propeller about a week ago when a test was being made of the engine in the garage. The strength of the motor was shown in that the machine was pulled over the skids and the tail flew in the air and the propeller was shattered on the cement floor, a small hole being worn in the pavement. The propeller is about 6 feet long and has a 5½ foot pitch.

SPECIAL MEETING FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Because of the press of business before the New Castle school board on Thursday evening it was necessary to postpone action on some of the matters to come before it and take these up at a special meeting. The date for this special meeting was set for May 31.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

CRY BABIES OF BIRDLAND

No one who has never peeeped into an Oriole's nest can guess what he saw. There, rocking gently in their hanging cradle, were five Oriole youngsters, each one of them complaining at the top of his baby voice.

The little things looked as fat as butter.

And what good care their parents had taken to keep them safe from harm!

What could be the matter with the poor dears? Perhaps they were lonely. What could Peter do to cheer them up?

"Check! Check! Check"

The sharp cry of alarm came so unexpectedly that Peter, jumping back startled, almost lost his balance and tumbled from his seat on the branch.

Frightened and furious, a bird was fluttering in circles about the boy's head. Mother Oriole had caught sight of the stranger peeping in at her babies and had flown to protect them.

There is no telling what she might have done to the boy if his old friend Mr. Oriole had not seen what was happening and hurried over to explain matters.

"Wait a minute, Mrs. Flame-Wing," called he. "Everything is all right. Two-legs is a friend of mine. He wouldn't hurt a mosquito."

"I certainly wouldn't harm a feather of the nestlings' heads." Peter spoke quickly. "I heard the babies crying and I came over to see what it was all about."

Mother Oriole, quite satisfied that everything was all right, proudly fluttered her wings.

"One can never tell what's the trouble!" she said. "The rascals are always fussing. No Oriole children are ever still for a long time. Didn't you know that they are called the crybabies of Birdland? But as a matter of fact they hardly deserve that name for they are not crying now at all.

"WAIT A MINUTE, MRS. FLAME-WING CALLED MR. ORIOLE. "TWO-LEGS IS A FRIEND"

What you hear is just their baby talk. They whimper like that all night long. It is just a way they have."

"I should think they would keep you awake," volunteered the boy. Mrs. Flame-Wing shook her head and Mr. Oriole chirped merrily.

"Keep us awake! I should say they do! Why, even after the kiddies have left the nest they murmur in their sleep on the limbs near by us.

"But I agree with Mrs. Flame-Wing. The children are not really crying. Why, what have any Oriole children to cry about? They are always well fed and certainly at night they are too sleepy to know what they are doing. No, on the contrary, when the babies whimper like that they are happy. 'Peep! Peep! Chip! Chip!' Don't the nestlings sound satisfied and comfortable?"

Sure enough, the little voices took on a new tone to the boy's ear.

"I guess the little dears are just too glad they are alive to keep quiet," remarked Peter.

"Clever two-legs, that's what you are!" Mother Flame-Wing, pleased by Peter's understanding of Oriole way, patted him on the shoulder with her wing.

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENE RUBINSTEIN
Noted Beauty Expert

CONSIDERATION FOR OTHERS IS THE BETTER PART OF BEAUTY

There are certain cardinal sins in the social calendar. Sins not only disastrous but inexcusable, since they come either of thoughtlessness, selfishness or malice. Perhaps the first of these is tactlessness. Close after that comes ungraciousness and then practical joking.

I need not tell you that no hostess could be a success possessing in even the slightest degree any or all of these most unpleasant traits, and under the general heading, "Lack of Consideration", they and many other like failings may be classified.

Each of them has its own bad effect on beauty. How could it be otherwise? Perhaps for a little while beauty persists in the fact of an unlovely character, but not for long. Each unkind action leaves its mark on your face, until, in a little time, beauty has gone, never to be recovered.

I have spoken of tactlessness. Have you ever met the woman who admits with a queer, perverted pride that "she always says the wrong thing at the wrong time?"

I have met many of her type and regretted them all. You have perhaps heard her explain that "she really is harmless", "doesn't mean a word she says", or even that "she is so honest that she cannot help being frank". Or perhaps she masks her unkindness under the prelude, "I am telling you this for your own good".

Such women distress me. I wonder if they deliberately shut their eyes to the harm they do, or if they simply do not care.

They are not harmless, I know. They are to blame for hundreds of inferiority complexes, for misery, heart-aches and dissatisfaction. And 10 years is the long limit of their social success. For after a while the world shuts its ears to such a woman, and its homes, too, and soon she is alone, lonely and embittered. And whose is the fault? No one of us is so perfect that she can afford to have a merciless eye, and a blunt tongue turned on every thought, word or action.

And the woman who sponsors the ugly, malicious instinct in herself is building up a lonely, unhappy future. Through her lack of consideration for the rights, the feelings, the happiness of others, she is feeding the monster of selfishness, and selfishness is a frankenstein which finally destroys its creator!

Suppose Marcia's new hat is a fright? What of it? She cannot exchange it now. She has spent her money unwisely, perhaps, but it's gone, can you not let her be happy in her purchase?

Suppose mother's new dress is too youthful. It only matches her spirit, and if she can feel that young, why, let her proclaim it, by all means.

After all, the very best you can offer is a personal opinion and why, please, should your opinion be infallible, and everyone else's wrong?

Ungraciousness is another social offense. It is a very simple and very beautiful thing to be hospitable, and hospitality lends an aura of charm to the woman who practices it. What does it consist of? No more than the will and the effort to make someone else comfortable. We might do well to follow the eastern world and feel that the stranger within the gates is sacred to us.

The customs of hospitality are very charming. One very old one, practiced to this day in many homes, is to set an extra place at each meal for the wanderer who may stop by, and be weary and footsore and hungry.

Nor is it alone in the eyes of the stranger that the matron of the house is beautiful. For every kind thing you do is reflected in your face, your carriage and your bearing. Hospitality need not always mean the giving of the substance. You can give yourself, you know, your service and your kindliness, for these are the lasting gifts, the most welcome of all.

Practical joking is a thing no well mannered woman would stoop to. It is bad enough to hurt another person through thoughtlessness or lack of it, but it is impardonable to do it wilfully.

All of these faults are bold through lack of consideration. All of them have their effects upon your physical being, for, although it is true enough to tell you that "Beauty is as Beauty does"—nothing could be more truthful or more correct.

Judge Reunites Couple By "Dating Them Up"

Prescribes "Show And Dinner Afterwards," And Domestic War Is Ended

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 18.—Judge William M. Lewis, sitting at the domestic relations branch of the municipal court, reconciled Wilmer Rebola, 23, of Calbert street, with his wife, Mary 23, of North Eighteenth street, by "dating them up for a show and dinner afterwards". The couple were married in October, 1927, but six weeks later a disagreement concerning former sweethearts disrupted them. In December an order of $4 a week was placed on Wilmer by the court for the support of his youthful wife.

Wilmer was brought before Judge Lewis yesterday to give reasons why he was $20 in arrears in his payments to Mrs. Rebola. After hearing statements from both husband and wife, Judge Lewis decided that there was no cause for the couple to be apart, and began to use his influence to mend the break.

"Would you like to have your husband back home with you again?" the judge asked Mrs. Rebola.

"Surely, your honor," replied the woman.

"And how about you?" continued the court, pointing to the husband, "are you willing?"

"Yes, judge," was his reply.

"All right, then, take your wife out to a show, and you can have dinner afterwards. We don't want to 'patch things up.' What we want to do is to adjust the matter permanently, so that you can be a happily married couple," remarked Judge Lewis.

After hearing the judge's advise a smile wreathed the countenances of the couple, and with thankful glances toward the judge they departed from the courtroom, apparently very much pleased over the unexpected outcome of their case.

DIZZY HEADACHES GONE AND PAINS HAVE LEFT BACK

New Castle Lady Also Free Of Stomach Trouble, After Using Ten Herbs.

"Ten Herbs gave me satisfactory relief from stomach and liver disorders dizzy headaches and pains in the back," was the statement of Mrs. John Yoho 211 West Sheridan Avenue New Castle to the Ten Herbs Man who is at Eckerd's of New Castle Inc., 30 East Washington Street this city, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of people.

MRS. JOHN YOHO

"Before taking Ten Herbs I suffered with stomach trouble," Mrs. Yoho continued. "At times, my appetite was very poor, and what little I ate distressed me. Gas would form and cause me considerable trouble. Dizzy headaches would come on me. My kidneys were not working properly, as there were severe pains across my back. I was constipated nearly all the time. My liver was badly disordered. My tongue was coated, and black spots would come before my eyes.

"I was advised to try Ten Herbs, which I did. I have used three bottles, and there has been a wonderful improvement in my health. Stomach trouble has been relieved—there is no more gas. My liver is in good condition. I do not get dizzy any more, or have black spots before my eyes. Constipation has been corrected. My kidneys seem to be in good condition, and the pains are gone from my back. I no longer have severe headaches. My appetite is splendid, and my nerves are quiet. Ten Herbs benefitted me so much, that I shall always recommend it to persons who suffer as I did."

Many in this section are daily reporting to the Ten Herbs Man that the action of Ten Herbs on the inner system is little short of amazing. The wonderful natural ingredients of this celebrated medicine benefit and invigorate the sluggish stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, usually making one feel better in every way.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. He will be glad to tell you how to take it to get the best results. Free sample given.

Woman Accuses Man Of Changing Name And Marrying

BUTLER, Pa., May 18.—E. M. Hays, who for a number of years has conducted a barber shop in Butler, is in the county jail, facing a hearing on charges of immorality. The arrest was made by County Detective Frank T. Wigton, following information made by Mrs. Hess, who says that Hays married her under the name of E. M. Hess. She was accompanied by a boy, who she says is a son of Hays or Hess. The story told by Mrs. Hess is that her husband deserted her with several small children. Search failed to reveal his whereabouts. In the interim, according to the information gathered by police here, Hess had changed his name to M. E. Hays and had married a Butler woman, who died about two years ago.

The charge against Hays before Alderman Carl G. Phillips is that of immorality in living with a woman here without the formality of marriage.

Deputy Returns From Westmoreland County Pheasant "Farm"

USE "BANTIES" TO HATCH OUT EGGS

Frank N. Johnston, deputy game warden for the county of Lawrence, has returned from Westmoreland county where he has helped to construct a "pen" in which the state hopes to raise ringneck pheasants.

The state has shipped 500 eggs to the "pen" in Westmoreland county where there are 38 hens and roosters. The hens produce an average of two dozen eggs a day which are placed under "banties" as hens are too heavy for the eggs.

He stated today that he intends to visit the various streams of this district and check fishermen's licenses.

Scientists Tackle Agricultural Issue

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The politicians having failed to find a solution for the agricultural problem, the scientists are now going to tackle it.

The American Institute of Chemistry announced Thursday that it is preparing a general and widespread research into the whole problem of agricultural production and distribution, the ultimate object of which is to produce facts and theoretical practices that will put the farmer on the same plane with the industrialist.

Development of markets for the farmers' production in other fields than food is the basis of the chemists rehabilitation plan. The opening guns of the drive will be fired when the chemistry institute meets at Evanston, Ill., in July.

"Under present conditions the farmer sells little but food—his income is dependent upon the sale of this necessity," Dr. Frank C. Whitmore, director of the institute explained. "Sale of necessities does not produce prosperity.

"The money that is expended for luxuries spells the difference between merely breaking even and real prosperity. Luxuries for the people result from prosperity, but on the other hand the production and sale of luxuries creates new employment and therefore contributes to prosperous condition."

Witness List In Pittsburgh Probe Is Near Thousand

Police And Prohibition Authorities Now At Open Odds Over Investigation

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 18.—Indications that more than 1000 witnesses will have been called before the federal grand jury before the sweeping investigation into liquor conditions in Pittsburgh ends, were seen today with the announcement that approximately 300 persons have testified, 100 are under subpoena but have not been heard and 300 are to be summoned. Other witnesses are expected to raise the figure to the thousand mark.

With police and federal prohibition authorities now at open odds following the refusal of City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt to permit government representatives to examine magistrates dockets, legal steps to obtain the dockets were believed to be contemplated by United States District Attorney John D. Meyer. It had been reported that federal officials had settled their difficulties but the breach was widened at a conference before Judges E. P. Schoonmaker and W. H. S. Thomson to determine the scope of subpoenas issued by the court for city records.

TO MAKE REPAIRS TO CITY SCHOOLS

Plan For Summer Work Is Submitted To Board Thursday Evening

Considerable time was devoted Thursday evening by the New Castle School Board to the matter of repairs to the various schools during the coming summer. Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds S. G. Ligo submitted a list of repairs that would be needed and after going over each one carefully, the board authorized the work to be done.

The board will not change its starting time for the summer months, and by resolution voted to continue the starting time of 7:30 Eastern Standard Time. This will mean 8:30 Daylight Savings Time during June, July and August.

The meeting on Thursday evening was an extended one, and did not adjourn until a few minutes before one o'clock. A special meeting will be held May 31.

ELECT McCLUNG AS SCHOOL TREASURER

City Treasurer L. W. McClung was elected treasurer of the New Castle school district on Thursday evening, to take effect July 1. The school fiscal year ends July 1 and Ira M. Ramsey, formerly city treasurer, will serve as school treasurer until that date.

Attendance Record Average Is Lower

Because of illness in the schools during April the attendance records suffered somewhat according to Superintendent C. C. Green.

The average total attendance was 9,960 out of a total enrollment of 10,745. The average percentage of attendance was 95. Terrace avenue fell below its usual 99 percent, averaging 96 percent but this was the highest of the entire system. Martin Gantz was low with 87.

Rev. C. G. Jordan Will Be Volant Field Day Speaker

Dr. C. G. Jordan, Pennsylvania State Secretary of Agriculture, will be the main speaker at the Dairy Field day, which will take place at Volant, Thursday, June 7, announces Milo Moose, chairman of the general committee who is in charge of the affair.

A very interesting and instructive program has been arranged for the day, states Mr. Moose, which will include exhibits of cattle of Jersey and Holstein breeds.

Seven classes of each breed will be shown. Classes are as follows; calves under one year; heifers from one to two years old; cows two to three years; three to four years; four years and over; get of sire and grand champion.

The classes are open to any Pennsylvania breeder who desires to exhibit. Entries should be made with Secretary N. E. Sampson, Volant, Pa., R. D. No. 3. These entries should be made by June 1.

The program for the day will include a judging contest in the morning before the official placing of the cattle. The official judging will be done by E. B. Fitts, in charge of dairy extension at the Pennsylvania State College. Mr. Fitts is a very capable judge, as is shown by the fact that he has placed cattle at a number of state fairs throughout the United States. During the afternoon, Mr. Fitts will speak on the "Present Dairy Situation."

An invitation is extended to the general public to attend the show and meeting. Mr. Fitts is probably one of the outstanding authorities in the country, while Dr. Jordan's ability is known by all western Pennsylvania farmers and business men.

Free Of Stomach Misery And Glad She Got Konjola

Indigestion Pains and Gas Bloating Vanished, Says New Castle Lady.

MRS. ETHEL MAINS

Seavy Photo

Report after report is being received from every section of New Castle, in which men and women are describing the wonderful relief this new Konjola medicine has given them in cases of stomach, liver, kidney and nerve disorders. Just a few days ago Mrs. Ethel Mains, well-known New Castle lady, living at R. 463 East Washington street, made the following remarkable statement to the Konjola Man at Love and Megown's drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, where large crowds are calling daily to find out for themselves about this surprising new compound.

"Konjola has brought an improvement over my entire system," said Mrs. Mains. "It ended my stomach trouble and at the same time, this medicine gave me new life, energy and better health than I have enjoyed in years.

"My whole system was badly rundown, and most of my misery was due to stomach trouble. I often had spells of indigestion that made my stomach feel like it was on fire. My appetite was gone and I had to force myself to eat. After every meal I would have spells of gas bloating that made it almost impossible for me to get my breath. Almost every day I was subject to terrible headaches and backaches that felt as if a thousand needles were sticking in me. One of my worst troubles was nervousness and loss of sleep. Nearly every night I would lie in bed and hear the clock strike hour after hour. In the mornings I would feel dreadful and every day I seemed to be dragging myself along feeling half-sick all the time.

"I began taking Konjola and it proved to be exactly what I needed. I could feel a great difference in myself almost at once, and I have kept right on taking this medicine. Now I never know what it is to feel nervous and it is a blessing to be able to sleep at nights and feel refreshed in the mornings. Konjola has relieved me of every form of stomach trouble that I had been suffering. I am never bothered with bloating spells, headaches, or backaches. My food agrees with me and is building me up and I feel a lot stronger.

"I feel so much better in every way that I can hardly realize I am the same person. I think Konjola is wonderful, and I am indorsing it because I know what this medicine will do."

The Konjola Man is at the Love & Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

ASKS CLOSE WATCH ON GASOLINE PUMPS

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, May 18.—Believing that Pennsylvania motorists are losing thousands of dollars each month because of inaccuracies existing in gasoline pumps, the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs, through its bureau of standard weights and measures, today sent an appeal to all local county and city sealers of weights and measures to keep a close watch on pumps.

During the past several weeks tests have been made in various parts of the State and many pumps have been found to give short measure. Under the law a tolerance of seven cubic inches in every five gallons is allowed so that even though a pump would show that much shortage it would not be illegal to operate it. However, Secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward, as a result of a conference with Albert B. Smith, director of the bureau, has directed that local sealers urge dealers to have adjustments made so that accurate measure can be given.

Tests made at scattered points throughout the State would indicate that a small percentage of pumps are giving exact measure. An intensive survey was made by the department's bureau of standards in Harrisburg in co-operation with the city sealer of weights and measures. Harrisburg was found to have 325 pumps in operation and only fifty gave exact measure on test. Of the total, 236 were found to be within the tolerance of seven cubic inches for each five gallons, but in the majority of cases short, rather than long measurement, existed. There were thirty-nine pumps condemned because the shortage extended beyond the tolerance allowance. Based on the amount of gasoline sold in Harrisburg, it was estimated that Harrisburg motorists have been losing approximately $1400 monthly. As a result of the survey many of the pumps which were within the tolerance have been readjusted and accurate measurement is now being given.

Watch the Pumps!

Secretary Woodward and Director Smith are of the opinion that motorists throughout Pennsylvania can assist materially in correcting the gasoline pump situation by being careful to see whether pumps at which their purchases are made are properly sealed by the local inspector. When seals are not to be found, the officials suggest that a report be made to the local inspector who, in turn, can make a test and give the seal of approval or close the pump if it should be found to be giving short measure.

The present drive is the first to be undertaken on a State-wide scale and Secretary Woodward believes that with all county and city sealers co-operating, Pennsylvania motorists, as a whole, will be saved many thousands of dollars.

"The tolerance of seven cubic inches on each five gallons of gasoline sold," said Secretary Woodward, "does not give any dealer the right to set his pumps seven cubic inches short for a five-gallon throw. The tolerance is allowed simply as a means to protect a dealer who desires to give exact measure, but unknowingly gives slightly less or slightly more than the exact amount of the sale. It has come to the attention of the department that some dealers are of the belief that they are entitled to short measure seven cubic inches purposely. This is not true, and if dealers intentionally persist in taking advantage of the friendly and co-operative phrases of the law, prosecutions may be made to follow in exactly the same manner as against dealers who persist in short measure beyond the seven cubic inches per five gallons tolerance."

SUFFERED EVERY SPRING FOR TWENTY YEARS

Learned the Secret of How to Feel Full of Pep From the World's Tonic Lecturer

"I used to dread the coming of Spring," said B. F. Hogg, 217 E. Penn St., of Butler, Pa., a man fifty years old, while talking with the World's Tonic druggist. "Somehow when Nature began to brighten things up, I got dull and listless. My appetite was poor, I was cold and just wanted to loaf around the fire or in the warm sun every Spring.

"People used to talk about Spring fever. Guess I must have had it. But one night I heard the World's Tonic lecturer explain why I felt that way. He said the rich food we ate in the winter, the way we lived indoors, and our lack of exercise made our body sluggish. Often, he said, that sluggishness resulted in catarrhal conditions. Then our whole body was poisoned by waste matter we didn't throw off, and the blood was thick with impurities. That set me thinking, and I realized he was describing my case. I took a bottle of World's Tonic and its effect was wonderful. It wasn't a week until I began to feel better. My catarrh cleared up, and I began to feel full of energy. In two weeks I was glad it was Spring.

"That's what ails a lot of us. Instead of being Spring that hurts us, it's the load of impurities we carry over from the Winter. Now a bottle or two of World's Tonic makes me feel like a new man every Spring."

World's Tonic is sold by Paisley's, McKee's Kut Rate Store, Smith's, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. and all other reliable druggists. (271)

Alienation Suit For $200,000 Is Filed By Woman

Mother-In-Law Named Defendant In Suit For $200,000 In Alienation

HUSBAND FILES DIVORCE ACTION

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 18.—Asserting that her mother-in-law Mrs. George Stegmaier owner of various brewery properties in Pennsylvania caused the marital difficulties in which she is now involved, Mrs. Mary A. Stegmaier has filed a $200,000 alienation of affections suit against the older woman in Luzerne county Pa., it was revealed today.

The wife a granddaughter of Frank Jackson, founder of the American Car and Foundry company of Berwick, Pa. is now in New York. Theodore E. Stegmaier, her husband is in Reno, Nev., where he has filed suit for divorce against her, naming six corespondents including a banker, tobacco millionaire and an architect all of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., their home.

"None of the charges is true" Mrs. Mary Stegmaier said when interviewed "Its meanness and spite. In naming these men my husband has committed an unpardonable act for they are all his best friends.

Oil City Orchestra Plays At Meeting Here On Thursday

School Organization Of 80 Pieces Makes Fine Impression In City

Members of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite who attended dinner Thursday night in the dining room of the Cathedral, and there were some 1,200 who did, were given a musical treat of unusual merit.

Eighty strong, the Oil City High school orchestra was present, under the direction of Professor Mitchell, and their work was cheered to the echo.

New Castle knows good orchestras, for the New Castle High school has a splendid one. Knowing good orchestras as it does, it can appreciate fully the quality of such organizations as the Oil City High school orchestra, and the members did appreciate it.

The boys and girls were brought down in busses from Oil City and returned Thursday evening. Their work was a high spot of the reunion and demonstrated fully the reason for their reputation, which is known over western Pennsylvania.

Reception Will Close Reunion

Enormous Crowd Is Anticipated At Scottish Rite Cathedral Tonight

With a ball and reception planned for this evening, the Summer reunion of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite will come to a close. Prior to the ball a program of entertainment will be presented, with John Taranlais Thomas, a former New Castle basso, as the soloist of the evening. Mr. Thomas has promised to sing a number of songs which he used many times here, years ago, among them "Rocked In the Cradle of the Deep".

An enormous crowd of visitors is expected this afternoon and evening. Since the reunion opened on Wednesday morning the numbers have increased and today will see the facilities of the cathedral taxed to the limit. It is probable that 1800 will be fed at dinner tonight.

The ball is scheduled to open at nine o'clock and will continue until one o'clock.

Police Baffled By Abduction Of Pittsburgh Girl

Early Wednesday Morning Young Lady Is Forced Into Sedan As Mother Looks On

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 18.—Baffled at every turn, police here today revealed a secret search has been carried on since early Wednesday morning for Miss Norma Morman, 20, who was forced into a sedan in front of her home while her mother looked on but was unable to render assistance.

The license number of the rented machine used by the kidnapers is the only clue on which they can base their investigation, authorities declared and this had led to a missing man unknown to the girl's mother or to her friends. Other than the license number of the car, the mother was unable to give police any information.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morman heard her daughter walk onto the porch shortly after midnight, she told police and a few moments later heard a scream and sounds of a scuffle. Hurrying from her bed the mother ran to the porch in time to see her daughter being dragged into a car at the curb. She ran after the car for a short distance and obtained the license number.

Make Plans For Use Of North Street Building

With the completion of the George Washington Junior High school, the New Castle school board will be able to make an improvement which has long been needed, but which has not been made because of the expense which would have been involved. The improvement will be an administration building in which all administrative functions can be handled without interfering with any school activity.

When the new Junior high school is completed, the students in the present North Street Junior high school will transfer to it. This will leave the present North street building for use of the students of the Martin Gantz building, which building will be abandoned. The Martin Gantz students will need but the North street building, leaving the small East street building in the rear of the North street building, free to be turned into an administrative building.

Centralize Administration

Architect Harry M. Wirsing presented plans, which were approved, which call for the remodeling of this small building to suit the needs of the administrative forces of the school district. The first floor will be devoted to the use of the secretary, Hugh M. Marquis, giving him a general office and a smaller office, a board room, and an office for the superintendent of buildings and grounds, S. G. Ligo.

The second floor will be taken over by the superintendent, giving Dr. C. C. Green a private office, a general office for clerks, a waiting room, and also rooms for the vocational director, the health department, the music supervisor and the art supervisor. In the basement will be a central stock room and a repair room.

Through the remodeling of the building for the uses specified, it will be possible to save considerable money. The installation of a central stock room for all buildings will result in a large saving it is expected, and the repair room will be of large service to the superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Bids will be advertised, and the work started as soon as possible after the George Washington Junior high school is opened.

Some slight remodeling will be made in the North street building. The rooms now occupied by the superintendent, the secretary and the principal of the North street school will be turned into an auditorium which will also serve as a gymnasium for the Martin Gantz students.

School Plans Are Considered

Mahoning Township Board Preparing To Erect 20-Room School

Nothing definite was done by the Mahoning township school board last night toward selecting plans for a new consolidated school building, according to County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling who attended the meeting. Four architects presented plans. Two others had already presented their plans.

The board adjourned to meet on Monday evening at which time it is expected that a selection will be made. Meanwhile members of the school board will inspect several school buildings in Ohio.

For the estimates on plans presented last night it is believed that the building which will contain 20 rooms can be erected for less than $100,000.

Naval Bill Is Now Threatened By Filibuster

Big Naval Ship Building Bill Is Securely "Land-Locked" On Senate Calendar

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 18. — The $274,000,000 naval ship building bill, designed to put the American navy into first class fighting condition, is threatened with defeat through a senate filibuster.

Despite the big majority given the bill in the house and a unanimous report of the senate naval affairs committee, the bill was securely "land-locked" on the calendar today.

Backers of the measure, who declare that its failure will result in the United States dropping still further behind Great Britain and Japan in the naval standings, were bending every effort to bring it to a vote. Objections by Senator Borah (R) of Idaho and LaFollette (R) of Wisconsin have twice prevented consideration.

CLUB WOMEN AT WORK

Conducted By The Woman's Club Of New Castle

Today is the International Good Will day. Peace demonstrations are being fittingly observed in every land. The world has made great strides in establishing friendship and goodwill among peoples since May 18 came to be observed while the study of International Relations has engrossed the interests of organizations. This day marks the opening of the first Hague Peace conference on May 18, 1899 which offers a means of settling differences by peaceful methods.

The United States Commission of Education has included in its program the annual celebration of World Good Will Day in the nation's schools by which effort is made to promote an insight into the true aims and aspirations of our nation and of other nations with whom we are to work together in the attainment of higher world civilization. Only by a fair understanding of other nations of the earth shall we be able to arrive at a basis for an honorable and faithful peace an indespensable element in modern education.

We owe it to the children who read history as a series of wars and to whom others is generally a war hero, to bring them the version of history that teaches the oneness of the world and the human race; that history is more than a series of wars and that peace time heroes have rendered by far the greatest contribution to civilization. We must impress upon our youth the broad humanitarian principle of right and justice which transcends all national boundaries.

The prevention of war is a patriotic duty for all who love their country and preparing for peace by entering the race for armaments not only defeats the cause of safeguarding this land but rather seeks to arouse suspicion and hatred against it. President Coolidge has said "No nation can have an army or navy strong enough to defend itself."

Paul Painleve, French minister of war claims "It is the duty of every responsible statesman to labor to make war impossible. He who fails to devote all his strength to that purpose is not fit to be included in a government. To claim that war is inevitable is to contribute, knowingly or unknowingly to making it certain."

Not only shall our statesmen foster ideals of peace but the citizens of this great land should understand that true patriotism constitutes not love of "rocks and rills" but love of ideals such as are expressed in its great documents as the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. Likemindedness and conformity of thought are not requisites in this land of free speech. "A true patriot is one who would today unhesitatingly sign The Declaration of Independence."

The immediate or future success of the ideals which we serve bravely and faithfully depends on our faith, our struggles, our courage.

A STORY OF WAR'S TRAGEDY.

In the little magazine "The Message of Theosophy" for January 1924 is the following touching story. It was told by Lady Kinnard shortly before her death.

"The Prinec of Wales was asked one day if he would visit a little private hospital where 36 men, so terribly injured in the war that they could never hope for release, were fighting the desperate battle of patience and courage. The Prince named a day and drove round privately to the hospital.

"In the ordinary way he went the rounds and was then conducted to the door by the grateful staff. But he stopped suddenly and said: 'I was told you had 36 patients. I have only seen 29.'

"It was explained to him that the seven other patients were so tragically disfigured that the visit to their ward was purposely omitted. 'For my sake or theirs?' he asked 'For yours sir' was the answer.

"At once he insisted on seing these seven men. He was ushered into the ward where they lay and at each bed he stopped for some minutes saying cheerful words and thanking each man in the name of England for his selfsacrifice.

'Then once again he paused at the door. 'But there are only six men here,' he persisted. 'Where is the seventh?' He was told that nobody could see the seventh wan. Blind, deaf, maimed and disfigured out of likeness of humanity, this seventh man they told him lay in a bed in a room by himself from which he never stirred.

"'You must not see him sir,' said one of the officials .'I must see him' said the Prince. 'Better not sir. You can do him no good. And the sight is terrible. 'Still I wish to see him' said the Prince.

"One of the members of the staff accompanied him to that little darkened room of unutterable tragedy. He relates that the Prince walked firmly to the bedside, that he turned very white but stood there with bowed head looking at the man who could not see nor hear him, looking at that wreck of manhood as though he would see the final anguish of murderous and monstrous war. Then very slowly the Prince stooped down and kissed the man's face. When he rose it was as if another Presence had come into the room."

Private Munsee Answers Complaints And "Shoos" Lovers Away

NEW WILMINGTON MAKES COMPLAINT

Romeos and Juliets who love in an automobile and who hope to find a quiet nook where they can whisper sweet nothings into each other's eardrum should remove the name of New Wilmington from Lovers' Guide or keep off private property, otherwise they will be interrupted by the cruel hand of the law as administered by state police, according to Patrolman Munsee today.

Munsee reports that with the advent of warm weather the Romeos and Juliets have been taking advantage of New Wilmington, and as a result the state police has received complaints of automobilists using private driveways as a place to park their cars while they gaze into the dark sky and murmur endearing terms.

Munsee says that he has already investigated and found that the complaints were true and in each case he courteously advised the couples that they must not park in private driveways and explained the law relating to parking automobiles. The state police believe that persons should have respect for other persons and, armed with authority in regard to such matters, they propose to fulfill the law.

Thomas McPeak Tells Of "Jip" In Story Written For Mt. Jackson School

Not all the stories written by the pupils of the Mt. Jackson Consolidated school have to do with the modern inventions, such as airplanes and those things that their advent have brought about, but some of the stories have to do with the more ordinary phases of every boys and girls life. Such is the story "Jip" written by Thomas McPeak, aged 14, a pupil in Grade 8 of that school. The story follows:—

JIP

Jip was a Scotch Collie. He was brought from Scotland when a puppy and was taken into the Austin home, as a pet for Bobby. Bobby, like other boys was fond of dogs. He was but five years old, but he thought he could do most anything a man could do. He often went out hunting with his father. He would sit on a stump and watch Jip round up rabbits, groundhogs, and other wild animals. It was on these occasions that he learned to enjoy hunting.

It was through these outings that on one nice day the joy of hunting kept creeping upon him. At last he could stand it no longer. He crept to the shelf, got down the gun, and started out.

It was great fun to follow Jip, and not have to sit on a stump and look on as he had done on the other trips when his dad could follow Jip.

It came time to go home, but Bobby, not knowing that time was swiftly passing, went on with the sport.

All at once out of the brush there came a spotted ball of white. It looked to Bobby to land right where Jip stood, but Jip was not there at that particular time but appeared there at the time the ball lit. Bobby's father had always shot the animal at which he aimed, but Bobby was not enough expert, so he shot in the air and hit the ground all around the fighters, until his shots gave out. Bobby, seeing he could not hit the animal, sat down comfortably on a stump to watch the fight.

Jip was a better fighter than his opponent but he could not use his talent in the brush and weeds.

Neighbors, hearing the clammor of battle, came and killed the largest wildcat that was ever in that country.

The skin of the wildcat lies in front of the hearth in the Austin home. Bobby and Jip put in many happy hours watching the dancing flames as they seem to remind them of the day they went hunting without daddy's watchful eye.

John Sylvester Does Derby Stunt To Butler In Less Than Six Hours Thursday

Twenty eight miles is a goodly distance, in fact, it is the distance between New Castle and Butler, but to walk it in six hours was child's play Thursday night to John Sylvester, of 826 Oak street. John is a packer at the cement works, a good packer too, but that is another story.

It all happened in this way: Dilks and the Bunion Derby were the subject of discussion Thursday at a gathering on the East Side. Arguments grew heated, and finally the gauntlet, $50 worth of gauntlet with all the fringes, was thrown down to John. The skeptics had doubted his prowess to walk from New Castle to Butler, 28 miles, in seven hours.

John scratched his head, his honor was at stake, and after thinking it over, he himself was not so sure that he could make the distance in the required time. Twenty eight miles, he thought, is a lot of miles, and seven hours slip by so quickly. It remained for Jimmie Jackamo, the best copy cutter on the NEWS, to show him that, after all, 28 miles in seven hours was only four miles an hour, and a man who could not do four miles an hour was entirely too slow.

So, at seven o'clock Thursday evening, a small caravan started out of the city, headed for Butler. In front was John, and directly behind John there was a truck so that passing automobiles could not bother him. To the rear of the truck were other automobiles filled with John's friends and the friends of the gauntlet-throwers, just to see the phenomenon.

Heel and toe, heel and toe, John paced off the miles. After Jimmie closed up the store, he became worried over the fate of his friend John, so he cranked up the old bus and started out the road, to see what had become of him. But John did not need anyone to worry about him. He was getting along fine.

At exactly 12:55 this morning, John was in Butler, negotiating the "control" of 28 miles in five hours and 55 minutes. Then he calmly collected his $50 gauntlet, climbed in a car, yawned, and snoozed peacefully as he was being trundled home. Today he is at the plant, packing cement as if nothing had happened and he had made 50 of the easiest dollars in his life in six hours.

(Special To The News)

WAMPUM, Pa., May 18. — Annual banquet for the mothers and daughters of the Wampum Presbyterian church was an event of Thursday evening in the dining room of the church and was held under the auspices of the Boethian Circle of the church Sunday School.

It was one of the finest and most largely attended of such events ever held in the church, the guest list including 98 in all and from the age of twelve years up.

As the guests of the occasion gathered, they were met at the door by a reception committee of the Boethian Circle consisting of Mrs. Van Dorn, Mrs. Harry Huffman and Miss Beulah Wilson.

Baskets of roses and cut flowers were distributed at advantageous points throughout the dining room, while at the front of the dining room was a large ship, sails and all. RISE IN NESHANNOCK INDICATES HEAVY RAIN

Heavy rains must have fallen this morning northeast of New Castle by the evidence of the Neshannock creek which in a short time about noon today rose a foot or more and took on a muddy condition.

Heavy black clouds last evening in the direction of Mercer and also this morning gave evidence that rains that are missing this part of Lawrence county are helping the dry conditions in the agricultural districts northeast of here.

W. B. A. Founder At Convention

Delegates From Many Cities In Attendance At Convention Here

BANQUET TONIGHT AT CENTRAL CHURCH

Miss Bina M. West of Port Huron, Mich., founder and supreme president of the Woman's Benefit Association, was a special guest of the Woman's Benefit Association of New Castle at the district convention which convened at the Elks Club of this city today.

Other distinguished officers who were present were Mrs. Adda R. Stone of Butler supreme lady of ceremonies, and Miss Nellie E. Lounsbury of Warren, Pa., supreme regional director.

Representatives of the W. B. A. were present from Tarentum, New Kensington, Evans City, Butler, Mars, Ellwood City, Zelienople, Knox, East Brady, Pulaski, Beaver, Ambridge, New Brighton, Beaver Falls, Woodlawn and Monaca.

The convention opened with a luncheon at noon at the New Castle Field Club. Covers were laid for 30, including the local officers and special guests. Spring flowers and orchid and pink colors formed a beautiful color scheme.

Following the luncheon the convention was held in the Elks Club. Class initiation and a program will be a feature of this evening.

At 6:30 an elaborate banquet will be served in the Central Presbyterian church. It is expected that about 300 will attend the dinner.

Miss West, who was the founder of the association, stands very prominent in public life. She is chairlady of the Republican committee of Michigan and is the first woman to hold the office of president of the National Fraternal Congress of America.

Consolidation Of Schools Is Shown To Be Economical

State Aid Makes Cost Of Operation Less Than The Old One Room Buildings

Consolidated schools in Lawrence county are proving less expensive than the old fashioned one-room buildings, says County Superintendent John C. Syling.

This is due to the fact that townships receive $200 per year for each school closed. There is also a saving on the upkeep, as it has been found that there is very little expense of upkeep on the new modern buildings as compared with the old one-room structures.

Few people, perhaps, are aware that one-half of the cost of transporting pupils to consolidated schools is borne by the state. The $200 which the state pays for every rural school closed by a consolidated school is not for one year but every year. For instance in Plaingrove township, where six schools were closed when the consolidated school building was erected a number of years ago, the township has been receiving $1200 each year from this source.

The state also pays at least 50 per cent of teachers salaries in a majority of the districts of the county, the amount which a district receives being based on the number of teachers as compared with the assessed valuation. Some districts get 60 per cent and two, Chewton independent and Volant, have been receiving 75 per cent of the teachers salaries from the state. It is believed that Enon school will come into the 75 per cent class this year.

Eakin Likely To Become Chairman

Republican County Committee To Organize On Saturday At Court House

Expected to be a candidate for re-election to the chairmanship of the Republican County committee, Chas. H. Young announced today that he would not seek the office again and at the meeting of the county committee on Saturday afternoon in the court house, a new chairman will be elected.

Several names have been suggested as the probable successor of Mr. Young but it is most probable that William A. Eakin, a former county chairman and a former register and recorder will be named.

No other changes are looked for in the county committee and it is probable that Attorney Orville Brown will be re-elected secretary and W. A. Brown as treasurer.

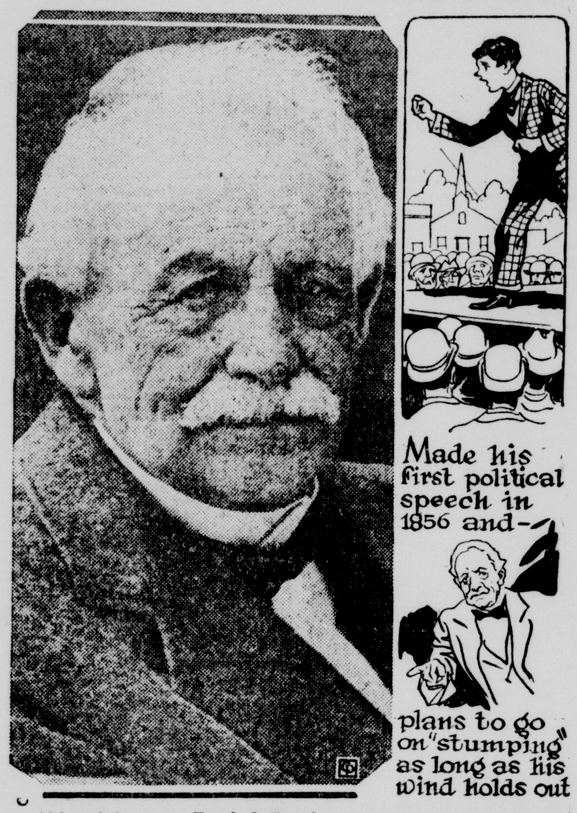
Hickory Heights School To Close

Hickory Heights school in Hickory township will close next Tuesday, it being the last school having an eight months term to close in the county. Closing was delayed on account of scarlet fever, which necessitated a short vacation. No new cases of fever have developed recently and it is believed that the danger is over.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ziccarelli of 311 Meyer avenue a son who has been named Frank, Jr. The birth occurred in the New Castle hospital.

Louis Mather Jr. of Highland avenue was a visitor in Pittsburgh Thursday evening.

HARDING'S FATHER GOOD G. O. P.



Although he wants Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, to be the Republican presidential nominee, Dr. George T. Harding, father of the late President Harding, recently announced at Los Angeles, Cal., where he is visiting, "I'm a Republican from the soles of my feet to the crown of my head. If the convention says Hoover, then I'm for Hoover all the way." Dr. Harding, although he is 84, just abandoned his medical practice two years ago.

HEIRS TO GREAT HOTEL BUSINESS

Mrs. Alice Seidler Statler, of New York, widow of Ellsworth M. Statler, hotel magnate, becoming chairman of the board of his $30,000,000 hotel corporation, and Frank A. McKowne, Buffalo, N. Y., man who became president, announce they plan to carry out unique ideas in management long associated with Statler. Mrs. Statler, who was Statler's secretary, and thus absorbed his ideas, married him a year prior to his death.

MOUNTED LIFE SAVER 20 YEARS

Mounted Policeman Arthur Dolan, of San Francisco, Cal., has somewhat of a record in dragging persons from death in the waters of the Pacific. Dolan has been patrolling the ocean beach for 20 years, riding along the sands on his horse Pete. In his years of service the officer has rescued 160 persons from death, 130 of whom were would-be suicides. He is shown above with Pete.

CLOWN'S BUSY LIFE IS REVEALED IN RECORDS OF WORKMEN'S BOARD

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, May 18.—"As busy as Scotty Deans" now promises to displace the age-old saying, "Busy as a bee", about the offices of the workmen's compensation board. Records of the board, each one of which is a dark or final chapter in some wage-earner's life, show no parallel to that of Scotty Deans, official clown and handy man for a small circus.

Testimony taken in the appeal brought by his widow portrayed the dead man in a much more prosiac role than "strutting his stuff" under the big top. His official duties as a clown covered a full page of detailed obligations. His unofficial duties covered anything for which he could collect fees and tips, some of them as small as one cent.

The record showed that when death finally overtook the nimble Scotty he had been busy with both for the past 22 1-2 hours.

"Official Duties"

Regarding his official duties, the record relates:

"Deans bound himself to do specialties, clown clogging, the 'January act', if necessary, and to sing and clog dance in the after-concert. He was to furnish all his own costumes and keep them neat and clean; all necessary articles of personal property and to keep same in repair and always ready for use; to perform all of said work and specialties as many times each day as requested by the circus or its foreman, and Deans bound himself that on request he would act in the after-concert or in the side show. He further agreed to obey and carry out all of the numerous rules and regulations, and took upon himself all risk of accident or injury. He was to appear in 12 performances each week and to make no charges for rehearsals. He was to draw no pay in case the circus should 'lay up'. In exchange for this service the circus agreed to pay Deans $25 a week, extra pay, pro-rata, for more than 12 performances per week.

Scotty's Chores

"In addition to performing as a clown he solicited advertisements to be placed on the tent of the show and his employer gave him 50 per cent of the proceeds therefrom. He collected lithographic posters in business places and in towns where the circus exhibited, salvaging them for his employer, for which service he was paid one or two cents each. Another duty was finding suitable lodgings for the circus performers, if possible, at the rate of $1 per night per person. The circus allowed each performer $1 a night for lodging. For this service he was paid 25 cents by each person. He brought the mail from the post office to the circus grounds for the formers, arranging for the laundry work and garment dry cleaning. He was agent for a theatrical magazine, his commission from which was said to be from 50 to 75 cents a week. His Total earnings approximated $100 a week."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Isn't it a bit hard to think of nice, appetizing meals this time of year? "Oh, roast beef again. Don't you think that a bit heavy for this time of year?" the family complains. Pork is definitely out of the picture unless a cold spell strikes us. Well, bacon smells good and tastes good, too. And mushrooms are right in their prime. Why not combine them for the main dinner dish? We'll use the fresh peas for a salad this time.

Broiled Mushrooms on Toast
Broiled Bacon Fried Sweet Potatoes
Pea Salad
Nut Stuffed Peaches Coffee

Today's Recipes.

Broiled Bacon and Mushrooms on Toast—Place slices of bacon on the broiler and broil on one side, then add mushrooms, cup side up, with a bit of butter in each. Turn bacon. Ten minutes should broil the other side of the bacon and cook the mushrooms to a turn. Place bacon and mushrooms on slices of buttered toast and serve.

Fried Sweet Potatoes—Parboil the sweet potatoes and cut as for French fried potatoes. Fry in deep fat.

Nut Stuffed Peaches—Mix half cup any kind fruit jam with half cup chopped nut meats. Fill cavities of canned peaches. Press halves together. Chill. Serve on circular slices of stale cake with whipped cream or a cold thin custard sauce.

Custard Sauce—One cup milk, two tablespoons sugar, two egg yolks, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla. Scald milk in double boiler. Beat yolks, sugar and salt together until light and pour scalded milk on the mixture. Return to double boiler and cook until mixture coats a silver spoon, stirring constantly. Add vanilla and chill.

VOICE OF THE SLUGGARD

The laziest man in Beacon was discovered early yesterday morning. He was sound asleep when his wife, wakened by the fire siren, nudged him and said:

"Wake up, honey, I think the whole town is on fire. The sky is all lit up. Wake up, wake up!"

The husband woke up slowly, indolently arose and sleepily felt the four walls of his room, yawned and stretched with a grunt and murmured to his spouse:

"The walls are still cool," and he returned to bed.—Beacon (N. Y.) paper.

Builders Initiate 130 Boys Thursday Afternoon

Flag Is Presented During Ceremonies; Address By W. S. Reynolds

Master Builder Of Organization Is Present At Thursday Session

One of the most inspiring events of the entire Summer Reunion of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite took place Thursday afternoon in the Cathedral auditorium when 130 young men, all of them under twenty one years of age, were initiated into the Order of Builders.

The boys took up the greater part of the afternon with their ceremonial and at the close were guests of the Consistory at dinner. William Lennig, Master Builder of the local chapter, was in charge of the ceremonial and in addition, Arthur Millard of Chicago, Ill., Grand Master Builder, and the founder of the order, was present and addressed the boys and the members of the Consistory.

Lauds Work of Local Boys

Mr. Millard was highly commendatory of the work of the local boys in the Order of Builders. However, he charged them not to lay back upon their laurels they had earned, but rather to use their work in the past as merely a foundation for even greater things in the future.

During the ceremonial, a beautiful American flag was presented to the Order of Builders, it being the gift of Fred L. Rentz, County Deputy for the order. The presentation speech was made by Attorney Walter S. Reynolds. He said:

The pleasant duty falls upon me to present to the Builders this glorious flag of our Country on behalf of one of your well wishers, the Hon. Fred L. Rentz.

I might undertake to stir your hearts with patriotic appeal. It is unnecessary. I know the patriotism of you young men. I know that in the hour of our Country's need each of you will set his foot as far as he who goes farthest.

This emblem proclaims the achievements of our forefathers who founded free government on this Continent and dedicated it to Liberty forever. It attests the valor of our Army, Navy, Marines at home and abroad. It records the heroic fortitude of noble women in all the wars of our Republic. It evidences the suffering of Washington. It enfolds the triumphs of Scott. It reflects the humanitarianism of Lincoln. It tells of triumps of Dewey. It is strengthened by the sacrifices of 1917. It waves in the breeze the Guardian of our liberty, protector of our rights, pathfinder of our destiny, our haven of refuge. Master of our life, the shield of independence, to thee we sing a paean of praise, and pledge our swords, our possession, our hearts and our hands.

Leaving the gift, let us consider the giver. We are not unmindful of the many benefactions of Fred L. Rentz both to Masonry and to the city at large. Generosity frequently provokes enmity. Those who stand in the spot light are too often the target for shafts of jealousy. Their motives are often impuned. Their purposes misunderstood.

Would that man might see a little clearer. Would that man might judge less harshly the things they do not understand.

Last week a Congressman abused those who accumulated wealth, referring to Ford, as a miserable money grabber.

Christ taught a different mathematics as to money. To add to it, He said subtract. To multiply He said divide. Give and ye shall receive, cast your bread upon the waters.

J. P. Morgan began his will. "I command you my children to keep the faith."

Armour women have embalmed their memories by deeds of honesty. John Wanamaker an illustrious and noble character with untarnished honor of splendid Christian faith became a millionaire by giving the world a new idea in merchandising. Five and ten cent stores are a real saving yet the heads become immensely wealthy by giving. Ford made more money in the last twenty-five years than any man on earth, by giving to the common people a means of transportation cheaper than any other man or Corporation, and at the same time paying a wage so high he evoked the condemnation and ostracization of all other manufacturers.

George Greer gave us that organ yet he was abused. I know something of the uses he planned to make of it.

The David Jameson Hospital is but the expression of the idea I want to leave enshrined in your heart. The splendid service of giving by Jameson, Greer and Rentz that counts. They won wealth not merely to have and to hold more than their share. They gave of time and money not as monumenis to themselves but for the sheer love of doing service.

"In life's long mile, there is nothing worth while but the good you have done on the way."

A boy who would succeed must do. He who would lead must serve. He who would get must give. Man owes it to himself to be his own best self. "To thine own self be true then to others thou can'st no false." We need the real boy who will develop into a real man.

When Lindbergh lanued he gave me more thrill than the exploration of any other pioneer in navigation, manufacturing, art, or those prominent in the winning of the west. When I began to see the spirit of his self control my hat came off in honor. When I saw him measure value and turn down unprecedented financial offerings I tossed my hat higher in the air in veneration and reverence. My heart leaps with real joy for at last we have found a boy who knows that honor is to be cherished above riches. Go thou young men and do likewise.

On behalf of Hon. Fred L. Rentz it gives me great pleasure to present to you this emblem of stars and stripes. It is yours. Guard it well.

Let us cherish our Country's flag with devoted love that our native land may be prosperous through industry, established through fidelity, honored through integrity. Let us repeat with Tenneson:

"Kind hearts are more than coronets,
Simple faith more than Norman Blood."

Marathon Dancers In Uniontown Are Continuing Grind

Clocks Of Marathon Dance Well Over 100-Hour Mark; Ten Couples Left In Race

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 18.—With the clock of Fayette county's dance marathon contest well beyond the hundred hour mark, ten couples today attempted to keep their own feet in motion while speculating on the staying power of the competition's "dogs."

Hollow eyes and aching muscles seemed to be failing to greatly weaken the field and the entire night passed without a couple being eliminated. The last elimination occurred yesterday afternoon when two couples dropped out at the same time.

The audience which crowded the Penn theater where the dancers were on exhibition until midnight last night, was treated to a pugilistic as well as dancing exhibition when Jack Medvic, contestant who had been disqualified, landed a swift jab on Lloyd Neal, promoter of the battle of bunions.

Supporters of Medvic and Neal rushed to the front of the theater and for a time a general brawl seemed certain but officers stationed in the theater forced the crowd back and ended the clash.

ROSE AVE. SCHOOL LIBRARY REPORT

Miss Iretta Dart, School Principal Tells Of Work Being Done In School

The work of the Rose avenue school library during the second semester of this year is made available in a report issued this morning by Miss Iretta Dart, principal of the school.

In the library room, the report states, there have been placed four long reading tables, made in he school shops, 40 chairs, which were purchased by the school district, one reference table, made in the shops, two sections of shelving, a librarian's table and chair and two framed pictures.

One set of World books have been purchased, in addition to 240 other volumes, about 60 per cent of which are fiction. Four magazines, the National Geographic, Youth's Companion, Nature Magazine and Child's World are to be found on the tables. In all, the library is in use eight periods a week, two fifth and two sixth grades having two periods of 40 minutes each week. No books are sent home as yet because the number is too small. A record is kept of the books read by the pupils of the fifth grade but no report is required. However, a very simple book report is required from pupils in the sixth grade, which covers the title of the book, the name of the author, the names of several important characters in the book, a description of the best liked character, and a resume of the ending of the story.

To date, $365 has been spent by the library. This money was raised by a school entertainment, the sale of old magazines, a magicians' show, Parent-Teacher association social, candy sales, garden seed sales, share of May Day and Book Week exhibitions, Parent-Teachers entertainment and the play "'Op-O-Me-Thumb".

Activities of the library are many. They include training in conventional library conduct, practice in the proper care and handling of books, how to open a new book for the first time, learning the meaning of the index, table of contents, title page, author and publisher, illustrator, chapters, et cetera. The pronouncing of the difficult proper names is also taught. Some reference work is done.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES ARE PURCHASED

Requisitions for materials for the various schools were approved on Thursday evening by the school board and vouchers ordered drawn for bills already contracted.

Requisitions were authorized for $578.43 worth of materials for the Junior and Senior High schools.

Purchases and repairs in the total of $1,334.81 were authorized for the various elementary schools.

Christ Conducts Question Box

Brass Tacks On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By DR. ALVIN BELL

Tuesday of Christ's last week was the great day of questioning, in which every faction of the church of his day tried to entrap him with its trickiest questions.

The Political Question.

The first question was political and was cleverly worded by the Pharisees and Herodians so as to "entangle him in his talk" whether his answer should be "yes" or "no". It dealt with the burning question of paying tribute to Caesar: "Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar or not?" His "yes" would have destroyed his popularity with the common people, while his "no" would have implicated him in the charge of treason against Caesar. But Jesus, perceiving their hypocricy, answered by laying down an eternal fundamental principle in all matters of church and state: "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's."

The Doctrinal Question.

The second question was doctrinal and came from the Sadducees who were the "modernists" of Christ's day, denying the scriptures, the resurrection and other leading spiritual truths. Their question was regarding a woman who had been married to seven brothers successively and was meant as a huge joke to ridicule the idea of resurrection: "In the resurrection therefore, when they shall rise, whose wife shall she be of them?" Jesus answered again with a great fundamental principle, proving the resurrection and future life as taught in their own scriptures, because God says: "I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob," all of whom were still living, for "he is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living."

The Legal Question.

Their third question was a legal question and came from one of the Pharisees, who was a lawyer: "Which is the first commandment of all?" He had in mind the 613 precepts of the Jews, some of which they regarded as "light" and others "heavy", some ceremonial commands and some moral, but each with its advocates insisting upon its importance over all others. The chances seemed 612 to 1 that Christ's answer would get him in bad with a lot of partisans. But again Jesus answered with an eternal fundamental principle: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these." With Jesus love is law, and only love fulfills the commandment. With this our Lord's enemies ran out of questions and Mark tell us: "No man after that durst ask him any questions."

The Chief of All Questions.

Now that Jesus had answered all their questions, he asks them one question which seemed to him to be the most important of all the questions of religion. It was the question: "What think ye of Christ? Whose son is he?" And when they answered "The son of David," as though that were all, Jesus asked them: "If David then call him Lord, how is he his son?" In other words, Christ must be more than the descendant of David; he is the Lord of David; he is son of God as well as son of David; he is God as well as man; he is the God-man. No wonder Mark adds, "The common people heard him gladly."

(The international uniform lesson for May 20 is Mark 12 13-44, the subject being "Jesus Teaching in the Temple," and the Golden Text, Matthew 7:29: "He taught them as one having authority.")

Recommend Soybeans As Good Legume Hay

Will Yield One To Two And One-Half Tons Of Hay To An Acre, Says McCulloch

If the acreage of clover and alfalfa is not sufficient to provide plenty of good legume hay for the farm livestock next winter, plant soybeans, says County Agent H. R. McCulloch.

Soybeans will yield one to two and one-half tons of hay per acre, depending on the fertility of the land and the season. The feeding value of the hay is equal to that of alfalfa for the same grade of hay. All classes of livestock relish the soybean product.

Where conditions are favorable the crop is not difficult to grow, McCulloch declares. It may follow corn, potatoes, stubble or sod land. A field sewed last spring to clover which has failed will grow good soybeans. The land is prepared the same as for oats or corn.

Seeding is done in late May or early June at the rate of two bushels per acre through the oats compartment of the drill. Soybeans, like the ordinary garden beans, will not stand deep covering, especially if a crust is formed after a heavy rain. An inch in depth is about right for most conditions. When planted two inches deep or more the beans frequently fail to make a stand on account of being unable to come through the soil in case a heavy rain follows seeding.

Another important point to consider is inoculation. On very fertile soil soybeans will give a good yield without inoculation, but the hay will be lower in protein than if the plants were well inoculated. On soil of ordinary fertility the yield will be indifferent while on poor soil without inoculation the crop will be a complete failure.

For some reason soybeans seem to be a little more difficult to inoculate than clover and care should be taken that the culture is put on according to directions and that the seed is planted soon after inoculation, McCulloch asserts. In fact, the best results usually are secured when the culture is diluted with water, as given in the instructions, and the seeds are moistened when put in the drill and planted before they have a chance to dry. There will be no difficulty experienced in planting soybeans while the seed is moist on account of the size of the seed.

Another good plan is to take some soil from where soybeans have been grown successfully, sift it and sprinkle about a quart on the seed when they are still moist from the artificial culture that has been applied.

There does not seem to be very much difference in the kind of artificial culture used. Care should be taken that the date is stamped on the package as the inoculation germ dies after a certain length of time, but most seedsmen who sell culture are careful about this as the success of their seed depends on the success of the inoculation.

Fertilizer requirements for soybeans are about 200 pounds of acid phosphate per acre. Ammonia is of no value where the beans are inoculated and potash has not always given consistent increases under average farm

Doctors advise Liver for weak, pale, thin-blooded men

In New York and other big cities progressive physicians are prescribing a diet of beef liver.

Liver, they discovered, contains mysterious substances and vitamines which create rich strong blood and strengthen the vital forces of men and women.

In order to get this potent substance in a greatly condensed form one of New York's famous Laboratories is putting up a liquid elixir known to Pharmacists as Hemo-Liver.

For this preparation the vital elements are extracted by a new process from fresh beef liver so that the blood making, vigor and health creating substance is obtained.

Hemo-Liver is a pleasant to take scientific preparation which all thin-blooded people and especially those who need more vigor and vitality are urged to try. As a spring tonic it surpasses the old-time remedies.

Hemo-Liver is now dispensed by all druggists who keep abreast of the times with the distinct understanding that if one bottle does not help—wonderfully—your money will be returned.

Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anaemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 13 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds weakened vital forces and energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished. Get a bottle of Hemo-Liver today at Love & Megown. Hemo-Liver Products Co., New York City.

LOOK OUT FOR RAISED BILLS WARNS CHIEF

Chief of Police C. C. Horner today issued warning to the people of this city to be on the lookout for one dollar bills raised to twenty dollars. There is good reason, the chief states, to believe that there are persons in the city who are contemplating something of this kind and it will be well for all merchants and others to carefully inspect all bills coming into their possession.

The cause of the warning is something that occurred here Thursday. A stranger entered a local bank Thursday. He had quite a quantity of fifty and one hundred dollar bills. He exchanged these for 9 or ten twenty dollar bills.

Later in the day and at a different bank, there was money deposited in which was a number of these twenty dollar bills from which the corner including the number twenty, had been torn.

This is one of the methods employed in raising one dollar bills to twenty dollar bills.

Music Association To Send Delegates

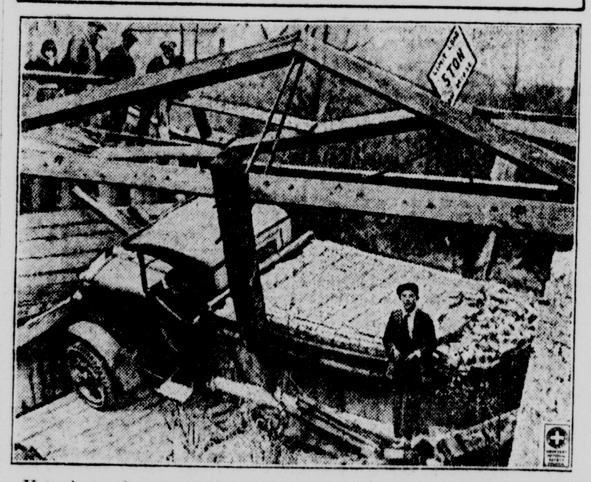
Will Attend Conference Held In Chicago; Drive Ready To Start

One of the features of the new Civic Music association will be that it will send representatives from New Castle to an annual convention of delegates from the 130 cities using this plan, and which is held yearly in Chicago, states Herbert Peairs, manager of the Scottish Rite cathedral and president of the association.

At the convention, the delegates hear programs put on by artists, and also have many round table discussions at which they discuss the programs which were presented in their cities.

All arrangements for the opening of the membership drive for the organization have been made, states Mr. Peairs, and early next week, team members will begin to ask the people of New Castle to join the organization. Saturday evening, May 26, the campaign for memberships will be closed, and after that time, no more membership cards will be issued, nor will tickets be sold to any single concert. Special arrangements are being made to have a student ticket, which will admit children to the evening concerts. The afternoon concerts in the schools will also be continued, according to Mr. Peairs.

He Didn't Believe in Signs



Here is a picture of what happened to a man who did not believe in signs. Although he saw the warning on the wooden bridge that the limit was five tons, he drove a six and one-half ton truck, loaded with eight tons of brick, onto the bridge and you see the results.

POLICE STOP AUTO DRIVER ON ROAD

Make Investigation Of Actions Following Telephone Call From New Bedford

Shortly before noon today police here received a call from New Bedford to the effect that a man driving a Ford roadster had just passed through that district and was apparently under the influence of liquor.

Motorcycle Officer Charles Augostine was detailed and met the man some distance from the point where the call was sent in. Following him for a time, Officer Augostine was not certain that the man was under the influence of liquor. On reaching the top of the Youngstown hill the officer ordered the man to the curb and then sent for officers to determine whether or not the man was drunk.

While the indications are that he was not drunk in the district in which he was operating, the officers searched the car and found two pints of bonded liquor under the seat.

The man gave the name of Alfred Volkl, his home address as Detroit, Mich., and stated that he was en route to Pittsburgh when stopped and arrested.

Volkl will face a charge of violation of the Snyder act.

NEW BUNCO GAME WORKS

Thomas Russo, aged 18, 102 East Division street, came in contact with a new type of flimflam game yesterday according to the story told the police.

He met a man, an American, near the Regent Theatre. This man said he could give Russo a job, if he would give him $4.50 to pay for a drivers license to drive a truck.

Young Russo had his father's pay check for $10.66. He gave this to the man at the Henry Hotel, which hotel the man told Russo belonged to his uncle.

The man took the check and was to return with the change. The boy waited four hours, then told the police.

Second Fugitive From Ohio Caught By Local Police

Charles Bookbinder, pal of David Rose captured here a few days ago, while attempting to steal the automobile of a Long avenue merchant, was captured here Thursday under rather unusual circumstances. As a result he is being held for the Cleveland authorities, as he has admitted having escaped with Rose from the Cleveland Farm near Hudson, to which Rose has been returned.

Bookbinder escaped the night Rose was captured. He went to North Beaver and entered the home of John J. Miller near Mt. Jackson, the family being away. There he stole three bank books on a local bank. Returning here and becoming acquainted with some local boys, he managed yesterday to cash in one of the bank books, forging the name of the owner. This was done with the assistance of the local boys. He was captured by Chief Horner in a local bakery where he had secured a job. He claimed his name was Schwartz but finally admitted that it was Bookbinder. The Cleveland authorities have been notified. If they do not want him, a charge will be made here against him.

WOMEN FACE DEATH FROM RADIUM

These five women, all former employes of a radium corporation at Orange, N. J., are facing slow and certain death from the effects of radium poisoning, according to medical authorities. Lawyers for the women say the poisoning was incurred as the women pointed with their lips little brushes used in applying radium paint to luminous watch dials. The women entered joint suit against the corporation for $250,000 each to ease the last days of their lives, but counsel for the corporation moved that the case be thrown out of court because of the statute of limitations, more than two years having elapsed after the cause of action. The women are Miss Grace Fryer, Miss Katherine Schaub, Mrs. Albina Larice, Mrs. Edna Hussman and Mrs. Quinta McDonald. Hearing in the case was set for May 22 in New Jersey chancery court.

GRENFELL'S DREAM OF LABRADOR HOSPITALS IS NOW REALIZATION

"NOW, JESS, BE EASY ON THE BOYS"

Thus cautions Mrs. Jess Petty, her mammoth husband, who has had a run in with his club, the Brooklyn Dodgers, and who preferred spending the baseball season at home in Brooklyn rather than play with the club and pay $200 for breaking training rules. Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of engineers, U. TWINS TURN INDIVIDUALISTS

Tired of "twinning," Mina and Marion Grosscup, University of Oregon co-eds, Eugene, Ore., yearn to be individualists. After dressing alike all through grammar school, high school, and part of their first year at college they are choosing different frocks, and Mina is letting her hair grow while sister Marion retains the bob. "We're just as much friends as ever," they declare, "but we do want to be ourselves."

Weighty Matters Await Action By City Councilmen

Traffic Survey And Bids For Roller Repose In Committee

CITY UNABLE TO PAVE SAMPSON STREET NOW

Solons Have Not Yet Acted On Personal Tax Exemption Plea

Several weighty matters repose in the city council committee of the whole, the recognized burial ground for city legislation but within the next few days it is probable that some time will be resurrected and either given a new lease of life or buried for all time.

Among the items which rest in the committee of the whole is the traffic report delivered to the city at a cost of approximately $2,500, by Morris Knowles & Company. The report points out the place where bridges should be constructed and how the much discussed traffic situation here can be alleviated.

Another subject which probably will come up for consideration is the proposed purchase of a roller for the department of streets. When the budget was compiled an appropriation was made and recently bids were received, read to council then shunted to committee.

The paving bids for Sampson street, between Rebecca street and the city line are in the committee but pending an opinion from the state's attorney-general relative to certicates of indebtedness the proposed project will gather moss, not through any fault of the city officials.

A petition calls for the removal of a billboard located at the intersection of Butler avenue and East Washington street and another request asks for the opening of Lorain street between Martin street and the first alley west of Haus.

The intimation from the Chamber of Commerce that should the city provide ground at the former city poor farm for the 125th Engineers that an armory may be built here some day, is also in the committee.

Council has yet to act on the request of personal tax exemption of valunteer firemen. The petition was presented some time ago. Mayor Gillespie said he would like to see the names on the list and the petition was sent to committee.

A communication in regard to the proposed sale of the conduit system is also in committee and also a communication from T. F. Moorehead representing the Lehigh-Portland Cement company, offering free to the city a strip of ground which would be needed to make a new street between East Washington street and Butler avenue as Butler avenue extension to Taylor street and Cunningham avenue.

Makes Report Of Reception By Officials Of Ethiopia

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—This is the story of how Addison E. Southard, recently appointed United States minister to Ethiopia, was received at the court of Addis Ababa on the occasion of his presentation of credentials.

Asked by Belaten Gheta Wolbe Tsadik, the Ethiopian minister of foreign affairs, whether he preferred to approach the imperial palace on a gorgeously bedecked mule or the imperal motor, Southard selected the Ford.

The ceremonies, according to the official report to the State Department, made public today, was in the "audience hall of the conquering lion of the tribe of Judah", which, obviously is a splendid hall for such occasions.

"They were escorted by a troop of cavalry," the report continues, "headed in person by the commanding general of the area. The various compounds through which the audience hall was approached was packed with troops, some thousands in modern dress, thousands more in the lion's mane and military robes of Ethiopia.

Many of the older and more conservative chiefs were present with their followings at the express command of her majesty the empress. The audience was a joint one. Her majesty the empress and his imperial highness the prince regent were both on the throne platform. Mr. Southard remained about five minutes with her majesty and his imperial highness, during which period the usual salute was fired.

In responding to Mr. Southard's greeting the prince regent said he hoped the opening of the legation would enlarge the commerce and amity between Ethiopia and the United States.

Ethiopia is a vast land-locked country hard by the heart of Kipling's "Man Who Was Thursday" country in equatorial Africa. Legend has it that there are no snow-capped mountain peaks there because all the mountain peaks are toasted.

Southard, an American business man interested in mining and engineering projects in central Africa, was appointed resident minister to Ethiopia by President Coolidge early in February.

MAY RE-LOCATE SCHOOL LABORATORY

Architect Robert A. Eckles appeared before the New Castle school board on Thursday evening for the purpose of getting the opinion of the board upon the advisability of relocating the present laboratory in the Senior High school. The addition to the building is almost completed and by moving the laboratory to new quarters it will be more efficient for this department of the school and will also save about $175 on the cost of the addition, it is estimated.

Looks Like Bad Year For Third Partyitis

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

WASHINGTON, May 18. — Third partyitis isn't "taking", up to date this year, as well as it already had begun to "take" at the same time four years ago.

It not only was certain by May, 1924, that the Progressives would put a ticket into the field, but Senator LaFollette, the elder, was recognized as their presidential candidate. There was lots of enthusiasm inside the movement, too. For size it was a movement which never reached the proportions its organizers originally hoped it would, but it had plenty of pep as far as it went.

There's no united independent sentiment now, to compare with what there was then. There's some independent sentiment, but it's split up.

* * *

There promises to be two notably disgruntled elements loose in the country after the Kansas City and Houston conventions have been held —the mid-western farm Republicans and the ultra-dry southern Democrats.

Combined, they might mean something—not enough to win, but perhaps enough to throw the presidential choice into Congress.

Now, on whom could they combine?

Several names are suggested, but they're nearly all the names of progressive or near-progressive Republicans—ideal names for the mid-western Republicans to compromise on, but not so nice for the southern Democrats.

* * *

Senator Borah's name is one oftenest heard.

Borah undoubtedly would be the straight Progressives' choice — the same Progressives who voted for LaFollette in 1924.

However, there aren't enough of them. LaFollette found that out. There weren't enough to elect him even with the help of the pretty numerous labor vote he got—a vote which shows no signs of being cast for a third party candidate again next November.

And the fact that he's a dry is the only thing the Idaho senator has to recommend him to the South. With him Dixie'd have to swallow a lot of Republican principles it emphatically dislikes.

Moreover, his farm record isn't right for the mid-west.

* * *

It's possible to imagine a mid-western bolt from the Republicans, under such a leader, say, as Senator Norris.

And a separate southern bolt, led, for instance, by Tom Heflin.

That is to say, it's theoretically possible. Practically, it isn't very easy to imagine a couple of bodies of voters as willing to attempt anything so hopeless.

* * *

Senator LaFollette, in 1924, was able to make a pretty fair non-partisan appeal.

Both old line nominations were decidedly more conservative than either appears likely to be in June. He was the only political liberal in the race. Such unattached ballots as there were all were fish for his net.

The current campaign's dissatisfaction will be spotty—not enough of it in any one section to do a candidate much good, and difficult to patch together, crazyquiltwise.

A bolt, if any bolt there is, is likelier to be a Democratic than a Republican bolt.

But the likeliest bolter is Senator Borah.

Coupling up a Republican bolter with a Democratic bolt seems like so hard a job as almost to warrant the prediction that it absolutely can't be done.

MEASURE, 128 YEARS OLD, MEETS PRESENT STANDARD OF BUREAU

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, May 18. — H. H. Colgan, sealer of weights and measures in Adams county, has forwarded to the bureau of standards in the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs a set of five liquid measures ranging from a half pint to a gallon, with a request that they be tested. The measures are probably the oldest in use in the state, having been made in 1800 by Gilliard Dock of Harrisburg.

The measures are of copper, with brass trimmings, and are in excellent condition, notwithstanding their one hundred and twenty-eight years of usage. Tested with the standard measures in the departments, they were found to be accurate and will be returned to Colgan with the suggestion that they be used for another 128 years in testing measures in Adams county.

The Diary of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK May18.—"The Big Noise," a current photoplay by Ben Hecht, with Chester Conklin in a Jannings role, is as bold and pointed a satire on politics, and on New York municipal politics in particular, as ever had been concocted in celluloid. It is a cinematic "Revelry" that bares in burlesque some bitter truths about the way New York's all important subways are made political footballs. Its characters caricature actual figures, some of them national notables, so closely that they should be recognizable even to dullwits. The role of the mayor of New York is played by a young man who looks enough like Jimmy Walker to be his brother, and to mention another parallel, in a minor part, that of the blonde friend of a newspaper publisher, is a double of Peggy Hopkins Joyce.

* * *

Echoes of the New York subway fare fight have reached the furthermost stretches of the country because of its political significance.

As is customary, the concerns operating the subways are being belabored by the politicians as robbers of widows and orphans and poor working girls. The irony of the thing is that the city itself owns the subways, and leases them to the operating companies under an agreement which protects the companies against loss. The companies, compelled to limit the fare to five cents regardless of the distance the passenger is hauled, which is in a large percentage of cases as much as 20 miles, draw on the city treasury for their deficits. Thus while the New Yorker rides for five cents, he really pays more in the end, because of higher taxes, higher rents, etc.

Subways are built by the city with money obtained from bond issues. With the five-cent fare in effect, the city doesn't even get back the interest on its subway bonds. Continued operation of the subway at a loss imperils the city government's financial stability, but the five-cent fare continues to be an issue to which the politicians cling. Mayor Jimmy Walker is trying to stay in office with it, and Ex-Mayor John F. Hylan is endeavoring to get back into office with it. Walker says Hylan betrayed the people by not watching the subway companies close enough, to make sure that fares weren't raised; and Hylan counters with the charge that Walker favors higher fares and owns stock in the subway operating companies.

* * *

Tradition has it that there is honor among thieves. There also is a modicum of honor among gamblers. In Times Square gambling rooms, in which there are crooked devices, visiting professionals are not invited to play. If the recognized gambler who drops into one of the places socially is invited to play, he knows the game is on the level. Otherwise he just looks on.

Four Hundred Enjoy Program

Holy Name Society Meeting At King Humbert Hall Great Success

GOOD ADDRESSES; FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Smoker and get together meeting of St. Vitus branch of the Holy Name society held Thursday evening in King Humbert hall, Division street, attracted approximately 400 young men of the parish, who have taken the pledge to abstain from impure language and perjury and was a very successful occasion.

The program as previously announced was carried out with some minor changes made necessary by sickness or inability of the persons scheduled to appear, to be present.

The hall was attractively decorated for the occasion and at a seasonable hour excellent refreshments prepared by the committee in charge of that work, were served and thoroughly enjoyed.

Able Address.

The outstanding feature of the evening were the addresses given by Rev. J. Dudley Nee, assistant pastor of St. Mary's parish; Major Guy J. Wadlinger, Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, pastor of St. Vitus church, and Rev. Fr. Patrick DiRanna, assistant pastor of St. Vitus parish.

Father Nee in the course of his remarks spoke of the character building possible through affiliation with the Holy Name society, the object of which is to prevent profanity, impure speech and perjury. He urged that it was one means of making better men of the members of any parish and congratulated St. Vitus parish on the activity of its branch. Major Wadlinger spoke on the subject of Catholic Citizenship, stressing the good that membership in the Holy Name society will do in bringing about the highest standard of religious belief, also citizenship.

Father DeMita, pastor of the parish, expressed his pleasure at the manner in which the young men were taking an interest in the Holy Name society and urged them to keep up the good work and increase the membership to the limit.

Father DiRanna, assistant pastor of the parish, was the concluding speaker and told how that loyalty to the principles of the Holy Name society, worked to the benefit of the religious standards of its members, also brought forth the best in them in the matter of loyalty to their country. He said that good Catholics would in turn be good and loyal citizens to their country. He urged the members to be present next Sunday morning and participate in holy communion.

The porgram was the result of the efforts of Charles Ross, president of St. Vitus branch of the Holy Name society, and Rev. Fr. Patrick DiRanna, assistant pastor of the parish.

Charles Ross Presides.

Charles Ross acted in the capacity of master of ceremonies and did his work in an efficient manner. The evening's program was inaugurated with the singing of America. The remarks of Father DiRanna and Father Nee followed. The mandolin and guitar selections of Copple brothers were greatly appreciated. Ralph Monico made a hit with his saxophone solos. Michael Turco proved his ability as a tenor singer in rendering "Ramona" and "Girl of My Dreams" with guitar accompaniment. The address of Major Wadlinger was then given.

The string duet by Micaletti and Pacella followed and was received with prolonged applause. Steve Griffith then rendered two vocal selections that were effective and pleasing. Father DeMita then spoke. The concluding musical number and feature of that part of the program were the mandolin and guita numbers by the six-year-old Petrillo brothers. They took the house by storm. Luncheon was then served after which Father DiRanna made his concluding remarks of the evening.

The final part of the evening's program were five boxing exhibitions made possible through the courtesy of Emmett Rocco, the well known heavyweight of Ellwood City, who brought six stablemates to perform and acted as referee, and Frankie Ross of this city, who put on two bouts with men from his stable.

With Rocco as referee and Joe Cumo and Frankie Ross as seconds, the bouts were put on in good form. Each went three rounds and some of them were so full of action that the entire audience was enthused.

The bouts staged were: James Menocci and Juggy Straw, 50 pounders; Dutch Ross and Nick Mastrangelo, 165 pounds; Tony Straw and Young Shorty, 110 pounds; Mike Lacava and Paul Kremac, 122 pounds; Young Fritzie and Dodo Augostine, 120 pounds. The first, third, fourth and fifth bouts were especially full of action.

The evening was brought to a close with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Custer's Last Campaign—Part XII
Gibbon And Terry Rescue Reno

JUST BEFORE SUNDOWN (JUNE 26, 1876), RENO'S MEN SAW THE SIOUX BREAK UP THEIR ENCAMPMENTS BESIDE THE LITTLE BIG HORN, AND WITHDRAW FROM THE VALLEY, ENDEAVORING TO SCREEN THEIR MOVEMENTS BY SETTING FIRE TO THE GRASSLANDS.

WITH THE COMING OF DARKNESS, THE TROOPERS DOUBLED THEIR VIGILANCE, FEARING THE DEPARTURE OF THE SIOUX MIGHT PROVE MERELY A RUSE TO THROW THEM OFF THEIR GUARD. ON THE MORNING OF THE 27TH, MEN IN BLUE WERE SEEN COMING UP THE VALLEY. THEY WERE THE HEAD OF GEN. GIBBON'S INFANTRY COLUMN. RENO WAS SAVED.

GEN. TERRY ARRIVED WITH GIBBON, AND LEARNED THE STORY OF THE BATTLE FROM RENO. A SEARCH DOWN THE VALLEY REVEALED THE TERRIBLE DISASTER THAT HAD BEFALLEN CUSTER AND HIS MEN. THE BATTLEFIELD WAS STREWN WITH THE CORPSES OF SOLDIERS—STRIPPED, SCALPED AND MUTILATED. THE BODY OF THE INTREPID CUSTER WAS THE ONLY ONE THAT HAD BEEN LEFT UNTOUCHED, A TRIBUTE FROM HIS SAVAGE FOES.

THE REMAINS OF 212 MEN WERE LAID TO REST ON THE HILL WHERE CUSTER HAD MADE HIS LAST BRAVE STAND. A SCORE OF OTHERS WHO HAD RIDDEN INTO THAT VALLEY OF DEATH WERE NEVER ACCOUNTED FOR, NOR WERE THE EXACT LOSSES OF THE HOSTILES EVER KNOWN. THE TOTAL LOSS OF THE 7TH CAVALRY FOR THOSE TWO TRAGIC DAYS WAS 265 KILLED AND 52 WOUNDED. WITH GEN. CUSTER PERISHED HIS TWO BROTHERS, HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW, AND A YOUNG NEPHEW.

Junior Recreation Leagues Open Saturday

Every Section Of City Represented In Loops

Leagues Have Been Named "Army" And "Navy"; Players Over 17 Years Old Barred; City Recreation Board Behind Loops; Street Department Employes Help Put Fields In Condition; Leagues To Close August 11

With most of the fields in shape, the teams in the newly organized Junior Recreation Leagues will start their schedules on Saturday. The circuit has been divided into two leagues of six teams each. More than a score of teams made application, but due to physical inabilities, age restrictions and other limitations it was thought advisable to retain 12 teams in the leagues.

Every section of the city is represented with one or more teams, and in every case have abided with the age restrictions. None of the players are over 17 years old. No transfer or exchange of players will be permitted after the season opens. This is in keeping with the age limit as specified by the American Legion in their national junior baseball movement.

Materials for the erection of backstops at the various fields have been furnished by the city recreation board. The street department has helped with the labor. Several of the fields already have fine backstops, with others being erected as rapidly as possible. In most cases some improvement has been made on the playing surface.

Homestead Grays Here Saturday

Colored Team Has Chalked Up Sixteen Victories

Hard hitting, combined with effective twirling, has enabled the Homestead Grays to win 16 games this season, and Saturday afternoon at Centennial Field the famous aggregation will meet the New Castle O. & P. team.

A week ago the Grays met New Castle at Massillon and defeated George Textor's aggregation.

The local club was just rounding into shape then and is playing better ball now.

The Grays have been coming here for 15 years and have never failed to stage a good game.

During the stretch of years in which they have appeared here they have managed to take most of the games.

Yesterday the Grays blanked Ambridge, 10 to 0. Williams pitched and held Ambridge to six hits.

The Harris boys, Owens and Beckwith are with the Grays. Beckwith has 13 home runs this year to his record.

OLYMPIC POSSIBILITIES? BIG TEN IS FULL OF 'EM

A FEW OF THE SHINING LIGHTS OF THE BIG TEN

By BILL RITT
Sport Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

Late in this glorious month of May, in Evanston, Ill., a city just out of bombing distance from Chicago, hordes of young men will gallop and throw things all over the place.

The young men, representatives of the universities which comprise the Western Conference, will be trying to perspire their dear old alma maters into victory.

At this writing the lads wearing the colors of the University of Illinois seem to have the edge. The Illini took the honors of the indoor edition of the 1928 Big Ten track and field activities in rather workmanlike fashion, and this makes them favorites.

However, three other schools look pretty dangerous — Michigan, Ohio State and Iowa. There is a sprinkling of stars scattered among the squads of the other schools, all of which should assure a good, tight meet with plenty of record-breaking.

This year the Big Ten will have another purpose in addition to its usual chore of determining the best track and field squad in the conference. The meet is expected to uncover much Olympic material.

Capt. Frank J. Cuhel of Iowa is a fine possibility for the Amsterdam games. Cuhele set a new conference indoor record last winter in the 70-yard high hurdles and also copped the 220-yard low jumps. He has his eye on the 400-metre hurdles for the Olympics.

Emerson Nelson, the same lad who led the Iowans during the football season, holds the shotput record of the southern relays this year and is also a handy chap with the discus and hammer throw.

George Baird, the third Iowa star, holds the indoor conference record for the quarter-mile. He stepped the distance in 50 1-10 seconds.

W. R. Stephenson of Indiana is another fast quarter-miler. One of the best in the country. He made the 440 in 48.5 during the Hoosier state meet.

Wilmer Rinehart, who hurled the javelin to a world record recently, and Harold Fields, a fine distance man, are two other Indiana Olympic hopes.

Lyon in the shot and Abbott in the 1500-metres appear to be the Illinois aces. Fairfield is also expected to put in a good account for himself.

Northwestern has several fine prospects in Walter, quarter-miler; Dart, the hammer, and Hermansen in the sprints.

Michigan's two best bets should be Ketz with the hammer and Hester, a class A sprinter. Hester is a Canadian and would have to appear in the Olympics for the Dominion.

The crack miler of Purdue makes that school confident of victory in that event.

Minnesota hopes to put a well balanced team in the field.

Anson in the high jumps, Rasmus with the discus and Simpson, a sprinter, are Ohio State high lights.

Wisconsin puts forward Capt. Gil Smith for the sprints and Chicago has its great half miler, Virgil Gist, as well as Gleason, another good boy.

Clifton Flats To Open Home Season, To Play Wampum

The Clifton Flats team of the American section of the Twilight league will open their home season tonight at 6 o'clock on the Flats field by meeting the strong Wampum team.

Indications point to a large crowd tonight as there is considerable interest in the Flats team this year. Coates or Hiler will twirl for the Flats with White or Gonda on the receiving end.

The batteries for Wampum will likely be Boone and Latiano. This is the first year for the Flats team in organized ball and they expect to make things interesting for the other teams. The following players are asked to report tonight at 6 o'clock: Smiley, Gonda, White, Coates, Hiler, VanEman, P. Ryan, H. Ryan, Morgan, Cassella, Logan, Byak, Sinkner, Quinn and Kennedy, also all others under contract.

Derby Runners Less Than 400 Miles From New York

By LELAND C. LEWIS
I. N. S. Special Correspondent.

BRADFORD, Pa., May 18.—The first 3,000 miles are the hardest, C. C. "Cross Country" Pyle's blistered Beduoins opined today as they pushed out of here for Wellsville, N. Y., their 76th control, 53 miles eastward. Heading the pack was Andrew Payne, the smiling, tanned Oklahoman, who covered the 2995.1 miles from Los Angles to Bradford in an elapsed time of 495:13:48. This gave him an edge of 20:08:29 over John Salo, Passaic, N. J., Finnish-American legionnaire.

With but 400 miles of the goal in New York ahead, the survivors of a starting field of 199 are providing a series of thrills of unexpected nature with each passing day. Yesterday it was Sam Richman of New York who set the pace and finished first on the 44.2 mile run from Jamestown, N. Y., in 6:47:39. Richman, 45th in the race, threatened to repeat the procedure on the last day of the race.

Luri Lossman, Estonian flash, who ran second to Hannes Kolehmainen in the last Olympic games and who is 53rd in the present grind, took exception to Richman's statements.

Other derbyists believe Lossman has enough speed to swing along at 13 miles an hour.

A filtering misty rain over the foothills of the Alleghenies stimulated rather than hampered the runners who carried on through 75 days thru desert sandstorms, mountain cold, Texas snowstorms and Missouri rain.

Former Champions Better

Jimmie Dime, Veteran Tutor, Ranks Jeff, Ruby Bob And Gentleman Jim Above Tunney

Than Present Day Kings

By ED. FRITZ

Champions of today do not rank equal to the kings of yesteryear, in the opinion of Jimmie Dime, veteran tutor of punch, who has witnessed many pugilistic buds blossom forth into flower. The veteran manager, inveigled into a fanning-bee recently said that one reason for this rests in the fact that pugilists of today are not taught how to box and hit.

"How does Tunney, the present champion rank with his predecessors," the veteran was asked.

Dime praised Gene for being a quick thinker but declared he doesn't equal Jim Jeffries, Bob Fitzsimmons or Jim Corbett.

"How good was Dempsey?"

"He was a good fighter and when in his prime ranked with the best of them," replied Dime.

"What about Mickie Walker?"

"The late Stanley Ketchell and Billy Papke had it on him," was the reply and in regard to Les Darcy, Dime said that "Darcy was a good fighter. He didn't punch just right but he was strong, kept going and generally speaking 'was good'."

Dime told of the Dempsey-Tunney fights and in speaking of the Chicago battle said Tunney won all the way, excepting the seventh round.

"The fight was all right and looked good because Dempsey wanted to fight and kept trying. When he sent Tunney down the excitement was great but he should have gone to his corner and Tunney would have gotten up at 'Nine' and been in worse shape than he was the way events turned out."

He said Jack didn't have a chance to catch Tunney and the latter gave Jack the laugh when the former champion, exasperated beckoned for Gene to stand still.

"How about today's featherweights?" Dime was asked.

He smiled knowingly and then asked: "What do you think would happen if they turned Terry McGovern loose or even Johnny Kilbane? And how about the bantamweights, even Johnny Coulon would wade through them."

"The trouble is," said Dime "that the boys are not taught nowadays but are 'thrown into the ring' and they do the best they know how. How much better it would be were they all taught but unfortunately only a few managers teach their proteges."

Dime's statement about boxers not being taught properly was verified by Johnny Kilbane, former featherweight champion when he visited New Castle. "The trouble of today is that the boys are given no instruction. No boy should be put into a ring unless he has attended a school of instruction. Too much care cannot be given to a preliminary fighter and the way I see things there are 'too many managers' and 'not enough boxers'."

In a measure some of the boys who trying to be eccentric nowadays are making a big mistake. They are copying or poll-parroting after the great Harry Greb. Harry couldn't hit but he had such a wonderful pair of legs and constitution he simply swarmed over his opponent at the start and like an army of bees never stopped until the fight was over. But the game will be wearing whiskers when a second edition of Harry Greb is discovered. His style many never be duplicated 25 per cent of its actuality.

"How would you like to have a stable like you once did? You could make a few dollers couldn't you?" asked H. M. Goldberg, the ice cream 'king' of New Castle.

Dime smiled and replied: "A few." In that stable was Jimmie Dunn, Tony Ross, Tom McMahon, George and Joe Chip, Tommy Bresnahan, Terry Mitchell, Dan Dailey, Battling Terry, Tommy Jones and the phenom and hero of 600 battles, Patsy Brannigan.

Jimmie is absolutely right relative to boxers being instructed properly as fans here can attest. There were a lot of pugilists but few good sciened boxers and punchers on the card.

The nearest to real class was Frankie Rio, featherweight and after he is with Jimmie Dunn for another year he will be davanced enough to tackle the best boys in the class.

Jimmie Dime also is saying some nice things about Johnny and Heinie Slate. Johnny has had a couple of reverses but Dime says he is certainly looking good to him nowadays.

But Dime's hope is a heavyweight with a heart. "Give me a big, strong fellow with a heart. That's all I want. I'll see that he gets somewhere."

Dual Track Meet At New Wilmington

Westminster And Grove City Battle; Four-County Meet Cancelled

Westminster college and Grove City college track teams are meeting at New Wilmington this afternoon in a dual track meet.

This is the first time for some years that these teams have met in track competition, and the meet promises to be most interesting. The teams are evenly enough matched to make the outcome doubtful.

The four county high school meet, which was scheduled for New Wilmington tomorrow, has been cancelled, due to conflicting dates.

Favor Reigh Count To Win Kentucky Derby

Eighteen To Start In Famous Classic

Toro And Strolling Player Picked To Finish Up In Race

DERBY TO BE HELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 18.—Having spent the last twenty four hours disguised as a wildcat in the feed box, I am forced to the conclusion today that there is only one factor operating against Reigh Count's chances of winning the Kentucky Derby tomorrow afternoon.

He doesn't read the newspapers.

He, therefore, can't know that all track-wise folk are agreed that there is nothing in the field that can be figured to beat him. He can not turn to the form sheets and be apprised of the gladdening tidings that he has all of the heart and the foot of his field, and simply must do an imperial ballet to the pay-off over the entire mile and a quarter of the race.

He can't even surmise that the chicken gumbo in which he has been doing his recent "works" has been nailed as a further token of impending success.

From what I have been able to gather, the great race has two distinct possibilities—if the track remains muddy, Reigh Count can't lose; if it dries out by tomorrow afternoon, the rest of the field hasn't a chance.

May Be Prohibitive Favorite

The Count, in brief, is one of those incipient calamities known as a prohibitive favorite. He apparently is to go to the post with a vast majority of the homeless dollars in Kentucky riding on his withers, and it's just too bad that a thing like that has to be kept a secret from the only party involved who can do anything about it.

As it is, Reigh Count will line up at the barrier with some eighteen odd horses, without the slightest suspicion that he is a great horse and the others are merely steeds, as we say at the livery stable. He conceivably might even finish last and feel no sense of social depression. He has learned by experience that the oats are just as good at the end of a losing as they are the days when he wins.

It is from ignorance such as this that the 1 to 2 shot comes cantering contentedly back to the judges' stand after finishing shortly before the start of the next race.

Therefore, and in all gravity, I declare that the crying need of the race track, excepting jockeys without forearms—is a horse that can be made to know that he is racing for the honor of dear old John Bananas and his two dollar ticket.

However, the good word here is that Reigh Count can remain dumber than an information bureau and still beat the field he is to face, for most of the derby entries either were discredited in the Preakness or were beaten off by the Count in the Mammoth Cave event on Monday last.

Typhoon Has "Look In"

There is one notable and two minor exceptions to this statement. The former is Edward B McClean's Toro, which would have won the Preakness if he hadn't been given a ride like a man on a rail. Toro came all the way from twelfth to second, finally running a near dead heat with Victorian, the winner.

The minor exceptions are Strolling Player, the $61,000 importation, and Sun Beau, both of which ran forwardly, particularly in the closing stages of the race. Strolling Player seems to lack track smartness which is something that can and must be used in a big derby field. Sun Beau did get up from thirteenth to fifth, and might be a better horse for the experience.

However, if we are going into details with these also rans, we might as well record the fact that Typhoon was hastening somewhat in the stretch, having advanced from fifteenth to seventh in the process.

The point is that none of those mentioned looked like a horse that could race in the same heat with the Reigh Count that did 2:05 2-5, pulled up, for the derby distance, only four days ago.

As for the others, Lawley, Dodgson, Colonel Shaw, which probably will start but only for the box car door after yesterday's performance, and Jack Higgins were beaten off by the favorite on Monday. Petee Wrack was third at the half in the Preakness and folded up, finishing seventeenth. Bobashela couldn't stay with Victorian's pace, dropping back from seventh to thirteenth. Sortie barely improved his position which was, roughly speaking, the rear. Distraction fell back from second to ninth in the stretch run and Don Q showed so little early speed as to indicate that he might not belong with the real good ones.

THREE GAMES IN TWILIGHT LOOP

Three fast games are billed tonight in the American section of the Twilight League. The games will start at six o'clock.

The Wampum team will clash with Clifton Flats at the Flats field, with Callahan and Nolte as the umpires. West Pittsburg will play at Lawrence Indies with Diana and Dominic as the officials. South Hills and Mahonings will play at Mahoningtown, with Hudson and Emery handling the game.

RYANTOWN TOPS COLORED STARS

The Ryantown team of the National section of the Twilight league downed the National Radiator Colored Stars 4 to 0 in a game played at the Radiator field on Thursday evening.

The game was a pitchers battle between Grey and Winters, with the latter having the best of the argument. Both hurlers allowed five hits. The features of the game was the hitting of a home run by Bratt the Ryantown first baseman and two sensational catches by Joyce who raced almost to the Radiator plant for two hard hit liners.

Tennis Alphabet — By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

"How doth the little Busy 'B'" do in the world of Base-lines, net Bands and tennis Balls? Pretty well, thank you—witness the three Frenchmen, Borotra, Brugnon and Broussus, recently returned from a trip to Australasia, where they lost about two matches out of 52. Witness also two of the Beauties of the courts, Eileen Bennett of England and Kea Bouman of Holland, both considered two of Helen Wills' strongest rivals in the European play this summer. And also give heed to the fact that John and Horace Barton of Sioux Falls, S. D., are the national father and son doubles champions, while Fred C. Baggs and partner won the national doubles title last year.

One of the greatest names in all tennis begins with the second letter of the alphabet—Bundy. Tom Bundy was three times doubles champion of the United States, with Maurice McLoughlin as partner, and May Sutton Bundy, before her marriage, was singles champion of both England and America. Another famous sportswoman, Mary Browne, was singles champion of the U. S. A. in 1912, 1913 and 1914, and four times doubles and mixed doubles champion.

Another titan of tennis must be included in this list of B-players, and in many ways he was the greatest of them all. Norman Brookes, the "old master", helped carry the Davis cup back to Australia from England in 1907, and played in the historic cup series until 1920. In 1924 he put out Francis T. Hunter at Wimbledon in a last gallant stand for the title which he had won in 1907 and 1914. Jean Borotra, the Bounding Basque of France, won the Wimbledon tournament in 1924 and 1926.

Dilks Is 'Lindbergh' Of Modesty

Runner Honored At Dinner; Receives Purse At Cathedral Tuesday Night

By ED FRITZ

Earle Lin Dilks, New Castle's participant in the coast-to-coast derby and who did not retire from the gruelling grind until injuries forced him out of the long grind after running from Los Angeles to a point east of Chicago, was honored last night with a testimonial dinner sponsored by the Dilks Boosters organization.

Charles W. Nolan proved a brilliant toastmaster and a large number of members of the organization and His Honor, Mayor William H. Gillespie, were present. During the evening Dilks was presented by Jack Gerson with an athlete's watch and also a runner's outfit by Cripps Hardware and he will be given a purse of $400 from the cathedral stage Tuesday night.

The purse is the remainder of the sum raised by popular subscription and the other presents are token of esteem in which the runner is held here. Following tribute paid by various speakers it was obvious that the runner who trudged through sun, darkness, sleet, snow and desert sand is a "Lindbergh" of modesty.

"You may have lost but yet when you look at it from another angle you have won. Had you won the race you would have won money, but that is only material trash. As it is, you have captured the esteem of your fellow citizens and that is a great deal more valuable," was the tribute of the toastmaster.

In reply the runner, still bronzed from the beating sun, arose from his seat of honor, thanked the Dilks boosters for their wonderful cooperation and said that C. C. Pyle, Red Grange and Arthur Newton, when the telegrams of encouragement and money orders rolled in wanted to know: "Where is New Castle?"

Encouraging Messages.

When the telegrams of encouragement rolled in, C. C. Pyle, promoter, and Red Grange asked: "Where is this city of New Castle?" Dilks says he replied: "You will find out later," knowing that the people of New Castle had banded together and in every manner possible were trying to aid him.

"That city of New Castle must have wonderful people, real supporters and it must be a great place to live," said Arthur Newton, South African runner, who after being forced by injuries to drop from the race was selected by Pyle as an official advisor.

Newton liked Dilks and aided him in all ways possible. In fact the New Castle runner last night could not say sufficient complimentary things about the South African runner. "He was my friend and he gave me some great advice. He looked after me and endeared himself to me, like the people here, forever' said Dilks. He was very modest in speaking of his conscientious race.

Mayor William Gillespie recited a humorous story and then told of his athletic days at Edenburg. He said he had taken to athletics when a boy and that while he did not claim to have been a 'star" he had enjoyed sports and said: "I am a firm supporter of sports and I am glad to be here to help honor Dilks, our fellow citizen."

The writer described the long grind and of the manner in which the people took to Dilks after it had been made known in The News that he was participating in the coast-to-Coast race. He said that while some people care only for certain sports all of them had got together in Dilks case and he proposed keeping the body intact.

Davis Addresses Diners .

J. Garfield Davis, head of the organization said he disclaimed any personal credit for the success of the organization and said the success was due to the citizens voicing approval of Dilks and his efforts through the committeemen Ed McMillen, W. R. Rhodes and Ed Raney. He told how the body was formed.

Edward J. Davis recited a poem dedicated to Dilks, Billy Williams sang an appropriate song and then George W. Conway, city editor of the New Castle News said he was glad to be present to help pay tribute to Dilks for doing something that no one here has done and possibly no one else here can do.

"While we regret his not winning yet we appreciate his worth and should he participate in further races he will receive the support of the city" said the editor.

Al Cartwright, former marathon racer told of the plans talked over between Dilks and he before the race and of how the heart of a runner yearns for home after a gruelling day on the road. He ran in a marathon staged between Youngstown and New Castle years ago.

John McCoy paid a neat tribute to the runner by stating that he had been only too glad to enroll as a member of the Dilks Booster organization. He praised the spirit of fellow members supporting Dilks and said that it is through co-operation of this kind which augurs well for success in not only sport but all things.

During the evening three young boys wearing running suits and tanned raced into the Elks dining room bearing signs on their backs reading "Pyle's Derby." They raced to the toastmaster and shouted "Presents for Dilks." Their appearance was a signal for a big outburst.

Generally speaking last night is not the last the people here have seen of Dilks. His "pulled tendon" has recovered and he is entered in the six day race to be staged by Pyle in New York and when he steps forth in New York the people here will watch his every move. He is training daily for the long grind in the east.

Babe Ruth Wallops His Twelfth Homer

(International News Service)

NEW York, May 18.—Babe Ruth has walloped six home runs in his last eight games and is now 11 days and ten games ahead of his record-breaking pace of last season, during which he hit 60 homers. The bambino got No. 12 yesterday off Wiltse of the St. Louis Browns. Joe Hauser, Lou Gehrig and Hack Wilson, three of his chief rivals also hit for the circuit.

Leonard's Bat Proving Deadly

Former Columbus A. A. Outfielder Having Good Season At Bat

NEW CASTLE TO PLAY GRAYS HERE SATURDAY

Red Leonard carries a potent bat and fans around the O. & P. rialto are predicting a great career for the New Castle outfielder, who apparently is one of the best prospects uncovered in minor baseball for some time.

Leonard's willow has proved a big factor in New Castle victories, and according to those who have seen both in action Red cuts at the ball like Gus Williams, who played with the St. Louis Browns.

Red has the same stance as Williams and during his career with the Columbus team of the A. A. he hit .260 for 60 games. His season with New Castle may do him a world of good, he believes.

Manager Textor has cut Dickerson loose from the payroll and is trying to secure a new outfielder to take Dickerson's place until Zur Graham, Fordham star, reports June 1. Johnny McCormick, formerly of Akron, may win the temporary berth.

New Castle plays the Homestead Grays here Saturday and there is no question but that it should be a good game. Rarely do the Grays play a poor game, and their mettle was established when they chalked up a victory over New Castle.

Yoxcheimer, catcher, delivered two hits against Canton at Massillon, while Grimes, the shortstop, came through with a safe blow, but had two errors chalked against him. McCoy, at first, had six putouts and Hogan in center also had six.

EDENBURG TRIMS HILLSVILLE 3-0

Jada Hofmeister was in rare form on Thursday night and as a result he limited the Hillsville team to three hits and Edenburg hammered out a 3 to 0 whitewash in the National section of the Twilight league.

The Hillsville team could do nothing with the tricky delivery of Hofmeister and seven of them whiffed the air. Augustine had the assignment for the Hillsville team and allowed seven hits. Huff and Rodgers led the attack on Augustine with a pair of hits apiece. Huff had a home run and single.

Sparring Partner Sues McLarnin For $20,000 Damages

(International News Service)

NEW YOK, May 18.—Jimmy McLarnin, who fights Sammy Mandell for the lightweight championship of the world tonight has been sued for $20,000 by Hjalmer Mogren, a welterweight pugilist whom he had employed as a sparring partner. Mogren alleges that on May 8 McLarnin "without warning" unleashed a blow that broke his jaw.

Mogren's attorney David M. Neuberger, said that summons and complaint were served on McLarnin Thursday at the New York state commision's office as he was weighing in for his match with Mandell.

One of the bright spots in the American League race to date is the sensational stick work of young Ralph Kress, rookie shortstop of the St. Louis Browns.

When Kress launched out on a terrific hitting spree in the early days of the season it was generally thought to be just a spurt soon to be checked. But apparently the former Western Leaguer meant business. He is still banging out the hits and keeping his average fat.

Kress came to the Browns this year from Tulsa, along with Otis Brannon, second baseman.

Weather Forces Rickard To Set Back Championship Fight

GAMBLERS FAVOR LIGHTWEIGHT "KING"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 18.—Weather permitting, Sammy Mandell, the master boxer, will collide with Jimmy McLarnin, the deadly hitter, in a scheduled 15-round battle at the Polo grounds tonight for the lightweight championship of the world. The fight was to have been staged last night but Tex Rickard, the promoter, did not want to gamble on dubious looking weather and postponed it.

Rickard expects no less than 60,000 people to cram the ball park, bringing to the box office coffers some $300,000. On paper the fracas looms as the most sensational lightweight display that has graced the lightweight realm since the days of Benny Leonard. It is what the boys in the fight game call a "natural".

This morning the odds were 7 to 5 that Champion Mandell would retain his title against his dangerous, hard-hitting challenger. There is so much McLarnin money in evidence that by ringtime the betting is likely to be at even money, take your pick.

Both principals have been pronounced physically fit by the state boxing commission's examining doctor. They have officially weighed in, Mandell scaling at 135 and McLarnin at 134½.

Cubs And Yankees Prove Sensations

Cubs Take Undisputed Possession Of First Place In National League

YANKEES STILL GOING STRONG

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 18.—The clubs supplying the fireworks in the major league races at present are the Chicago Cubs, who have won eleven straight games; the New York Yankees, who have won seven straight and taken eleven out of twelve from the western clubs; the Boston Red Sox, who have won six straight; and the Brooklyn Robins, who have won four straight.

The Cubs gained undisputed possession of first place in the National league yesterday by blanking Boston, 2 to 0, while the Cincinnati Reds lost to Brooklyn. Pat Malone, speed ball merchant from the American Association, limited the Braves to five hits and Hack Wilson clouted a homer and a triple. The Reds dropped all the way to third place below the Cardinals, who did not play.

Ruth Hits Homer

The Yankees won in the ninth, 4 to 3, when Pitcher Crowder of the Browns forced a run over the plate. Ruth, Gehrig, Blue and Brannon hit homers. Gehrig now has six homers and the Babe has twice as many.

The Yanks gave Stanley Coveleskie, veteran spitball pitcher, his last chance to make a comeback—and the Pole came through like Bobby Jone's driver. He yielded only six hits.

The Boston Red Sox are in the first division, the embattled Back Bay boys handed a 5 to 3 beating to George Moriarty's sweet-singing and sour-playing Tigers, who have lost seven in a row and are in last place.

The Chicago White Sox climbed out of the cellar by nosing out the Athletics, 6 to 5. Alphonse Thomas won his own game by hitting a double. Houser got his eighth homer.

George Uhle was the whole works in Cleveland's 8 to 3 win over the Senators. He toyed with the Washington batters and drove in four runs with a homer and a single.

Brooklyn's 4 to 2 victory over Cincinnati put the Robins within hailing distance of the first division. Statz's single in the seventh settled the argument.

The Cardinals, Giants, Pirates and Phillies did not play.

Mahoningtown Gun Club Stages Shoot

The initial shoot of the year was staged on Thursday evening at the Mahoningtown traps by the members of the Mahoningtown Gun Club. The low visibility and poor weather kept the scores low.

It is the aim of the Mahoningtown gunners to stage a weekly shoot throughout the summer months, and the next shoot, according to Dr. Carpenter, will be held on May 24.

Following are the scores of last night's shoot:

Player	No. Shot	No. Broke
Davies	125	93
Stapf	100	74
Wilkinson	100	73
Dr. Carpenter	75	67
Woodworth	75	64
Kelley	75	58

YANKEES RELEASE ROOKIE FIELDER

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 18.—With the release of Outfielder Sam Byrd to Albany of the Eastern league on option, the New York Yankees are down to 26 players. The Yanks will have to get rid of one more before June 15.

When Prince Carol issued that manifesto in English about returning to Rumania he probably didn't think the English authorities would be so anxious to get him started on the way.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

The man with "the greatest cross-fire delivery in baseball," is moving on again-around the fringe of the limelight-and dragging along the ball and chain that has kept him from fame and fortune in the game.

That man is Edward "Slim" Love.

According to word from Texas, Love, after more than five years service with the Dallas club of the Texas league, is to be traded or sold.

Love is a tall, lanky southpaw. Major league fans may still recall him because of his brief sojourn in the American league-with the New York Yankees.

Love's angular build coupled with his wide swinging pitching motion gave him a "range" about the pitcher's box that made him a hard man to hit-when he got the ball within striking distance of the batter. His "cross-fire"-which seemed to come to a right-handed batter by way of first base and shoot straight at the batter's head, was a baffling delivery. To a left-hander it seemed to sweep away in a wide arc that literally pulled the batter off his feet as he lunged for it.

But Love had two shortcomings. A wildness that was more than the usual wildness of the southpaw-the ball, and inability to field his position—the chain. Perhaps it is his height. He stands six feet six inches. Perhaps it is because he has never outgrown the awkward, shambling gait of the overgrown boy. But from the start of his career he proved to be unable to handle a sacrifice hit.

The Yankees sent him to the Pacific Coast league. His weakness followed him there. Five years ago he moved down another notch—to the Texas league. From Beaumont he went to Dallas.

Last year was a typical year for Slim.

He won 17 games and lost 12—for a poor team that finished fifth—with a losing percentage.

Half a hundred pitchers in the majors today would give a year's pay for Slim's lanky left arm and the cross-fire it tosses. But it hasn't been enough to carry Slim at the top—because of that handicap of poor fielding.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 18.—Neither the advance in the New York Bank rate to 4½ per cent, nor the $140,000,000 increase in brokers' loans produced sufficient selling in the market in the first hour today to precipitate the "break" in prices that had been so widely predicted after the close of Thursday's session. On the contrary, the forward movement was resumed in a number of the motor and industrial shares, which sold up a point or two above the previous close.

Professionals took their favorite stocks in hand early in the day, boosting Studebaker, Chrysler, Wright Aero and other market leaders a point or two. Encountering very little support from outside sources, however, they abandoned their efforts, and the market lapsed into dullness, with the range of prices slightly lower.

Call money was unchanged at 6 per cent and time money firm at 5⅜-5½ for all dates.

Personalities IN SPORT

"KIKI" CUYLER

Hazen S. Cuyler, star outfielder of the Chicago Cubs, was born at Harrisville, Mich., August 30, 1899.

Cuyler broke into professional baseball with the Bay City club of the Mint League in 1920. Late in the season Pittsburgh picked him up, but sent him back the next year for seasoning. In 1922 he was sent to Charleston in the Sally circuit and in 1923 to Nashville in the Southern.

In 1924 he became a regular member of the Pirates and began his sensational career. He was a great help to the Bucs until the 1927 season, when he was benched because of a clash with the club heads. He was not used by the Pirates in the world series, and in November the club traded Cuyler to Chicago for Sparky Adams and Floyd Scott.

Cuyler bats and throws with his right hand, is 5 feet 10 1-2 inches tall and weighs 178 pounds. His big league batting average is .338.

Optimistic Predictions Being Made For Industry During Summer

(Special To The News)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 18.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

Hand to mouth buying again prevails in the steel industry, following several months during which advancing prices encouraged forward contracting. The April decline of 483,000 tons in the unfilled orders of the Steel Corporation caused little surprise in the trade. It was recognized that strictly new business was light, since the latter part of March brought out heavy specifications, as well as the acceptance of liberal extensions of first quarter contracts. Unfilled tonnage, to a large extent, measures the willingness of consumers to buy ahead, and since the current price situation offers no incentive for unusual commitments, further sharp reductions in the total may occur without indicating proportionate declines in consumption. Even with the large drop in April, unfilled orders of the Steel Corporation were still 12 per cent higher than on April 30, 1927, and slightly above the level of two years ago. The reduction of mill backlogs is commencing to cause some concern, but to date, shipping orders, consisting principally of specifications against contracts, have sustained production at a virtually unchanged rate.

The average for Steel Corporation plants has dipped only slightly under the 90 per cent operations maintained through most of the first third of the year. The rate of the leading eastern steel company has actually shown a gain since April, now standing at well above 80 per cent of capacity.

The automotive industry remains a leading outlet for steel, specifying at an undiminished rate. Motor car builders with two or three exceptions have made no reduction in output, and present indications are that there will be no seasonal slowing down of operations before June 15. Some of the automobile companies have placed steel for their July production, and the Ford Motor Co., is taking an increasing tonnage of automobile body sheets, at the same time placing liberal orders for long terms. The moderate demands of other major consuming industries emphasizes the support steel production receives from the minor, unclassified consuming lines.

Tin plate production is virtually at capacity, and optimistic expressions by can makers point to a good summer operation of mills. Output for the first half of this year will be much better than had been expected, since container manufacturers lately have added to their original specifications.

Water delivery of steel is a factor of growing importance on the Great Lakes. A Buffalo steel plant has inaugurated weekly boat shipments to Chicago. The reduction of 50c a ton on foundry and malleable pig iron by Chicago producers follows the invasion of that market by Lake Erie iron, shipped by boat and offered at Lake Michigan ports at $18 dock. Two cargoes totaling 3000 tons have already arrived at Chicago, and a third boat is on the way. Shipments will also be made from Buffalo to lower Lake Michigan.

It is explained that the Bar Building in New York is exclusively for lawyers. Some folks familiar with New York might imagine it serves other professions as well.

Elinor Glyn In Diet Offer To Plump Actress

By HARRISON CARROLL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 18.—Elinor Glyn, creator of the celebrated term "It" recommended the following diet to an over-plump young actress.

For breakfast, one cup black coffee and one hard boiled egg.

For lunch, bowl clear but strong soup, one leafy vegetable and two tomatoes.

For dinner, one hard boiled egg, soup, vegetable and tomatoes.

In one month, rigidly followed, the diet reduced her 20 pounds, she says. We can testify as to her fashionable slenderness now.

All preparations are being made for June Collyer to start on "Part Time Marriage," at the Fox studio.

A leading man has been chosen for her. He is Neil Hamilton, Hollywood's best magician and a good actor, too.

Fashion Notes

A few fashion notes for our feminine readers the following gowns and frills:

Claire Windsor in an ecru lace posed over beige satin. Brown and beige felt hat with upturned brim and fitted crown. Red fox fur.

Leatrice Joy—silk print frock in futuristic design. Black satin. Self trimmed coat. Picture hat of black bangkok.

Mrs. Tom Mix—lipstick red flat-crepe frock stitched in a darker sets in a geometric pattern. Black coat and hat.

Dorothy Sebastian—black chiffon velvet frock embroidered in a formal flower motif in color. Black skull cap.

Virginia Valli—poudred blue flat crepe frock stitched in a darker shade. One of the new French bandeau hats of blue with glazed feathers.

Is Too Plump

Nobody knows where the rumors start, but we hear that Molly O'Day is through at First National. One of those, "now this is absolutely on the level" tips. It wasn't true as a matter of fact, but a high offical at the studio confided that the pretty Molly is considered a trifle too plump.

He even hinted that unless she loses a few pounds some of First National's big plans for her may be altered.

It seems a shame. Molly O'Day proved in "the patent leather kid" that she is a real actress.

How Smart Are You?

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

That Montague Love was born in Portsmouth, England, on Tax Day, March 15?

That he later made a comfortable living there doing landscape sketches for newspapers and magazines?

That his first cinema work was in "The Suicide Club," produced in London?

That he came to the United States in 1912 and toured the Orpheum circuit in a one-man act.

That he never appeared in pictures without a moustache until "The Noose"?

CAMBRIDGE, Eng., May 18.—The conduct of the undergraduates of Cambridge University is the subject of severe criticism by the local authorities of this town.

The question was raised at a town council meeting for the first time in decades, when charges were made that the students "used bad language at places of amusement and created disorder in the streets.

The indictment was not directed against the undergraduate body as a whole, but "against a small group, whose actions have gotten out of control."

GIVES TEAS TO WIN NOMINATION

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, three times a candidate for the presidency, is treating Florida to something new in the way of political campaigns. As a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. representative from the fourth Florida district, Mrs. Owen is directing her own campaign. Teas and luncheons, sponsored by women's clubs, summarize her fight for the nomination.

Carnegie Man Is Injured By Auto

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 18.—Harry Miller, 60, of Carnegie, is in a serious condition in the Homeopathic hospital today, because the driver of an automobile failed to obey the warning of a lighted red lantern he was carrying.

The driver, Thomas Duffy, 21, was arrested on a reckless driving charge after the accident. Miller who was trailing a tractor suffered broken legs and internal injuries.

BOY IS STRUCK

Findley Watson of Volant, R. D. No. 3, on Thursday was enroute south on Mill street at East Washington street, having just stepped up on the curb, when a Rieck McJunkin Dairy company truck driven by Merle Glitch hit and knocked him to the ground. The boy got up, stating he was not hurt and declined the services of a physician.

TO MEET TONIGHT

An important meeting of Oscar L. Jackson Camp No. 249, Sons of Union Veterans, will be held this evening at seven-thirty o'clock in the city building hall of the organization. Final arrangements for Memorial Day will be made and the military company will drill.

Commander Byrd Talks Of Arctic, Panic Is Averted

Fire In Stage Loft Fails To Hinder Polar Flier From Making Speech

(International News Service)

PLAINFIELD, N. J., May 18.—Neither intense heat nor the cold of the Arctic regions holds any terrors for Commander Richard E. Byrd just as he began an illustrated lecture on the stage of the Plainfield high school last night fire broke out in the stage hangings over his head. While firemen who were in the audience fought the blaze Commander Byrd held his ground on the stage and reassured his audience of 1,000 men and women that there was no danger.

The members of the audience kept their seats and after firemen had subdued the flames, the explorer began his lecture on his flight to the Arctic.

Plan To Pool Wool In County

Wool To Be Gathered Here On June 18, 19 And 20; Expect Record Pool

The annual pool of the Lawrence County Co-operative Wool Growers' association will take place June 18, 19 and 20, according to an announcement made this morning by County Agent H. R. McCulloch at the Farm Bureau offices.

As in former years, the wool will be stored at the warehouse on Moravia street, Mr. McCulloch states. He also urges that all growers have their wool ready to bring to the pool on the day that they are scheduled. A schedule for the entire county will be announced at a later date.

It is expected that this year's pool will exceed that of 59,000 pounds which was gathered in 1927.

Youth Confesses To Causing Wreck Of Express Train

"Placed Spike On Rail To Flatten It Out" Says Youngster, Three Boys Implicated

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., May 18—Two more boys believed implicated in the wreck of an Atlantic City express of the Reading railroad at Mt. Ephraim crossing here will be arrested today as material witnesses police said.

Edward Hope, 7, is now in the House of Detention as a material witness. The youth charged directly with wrecking the train is Vincent Burkett, 10.

Vincent, police say, sobbed out that he had placed an iron spike on a rail hoping to see the locomotive's wheels flatten the piece of metal.

The engine jumped the tracks, plowed along the roadbed for 100 feet then overturned, scalding the fireman and injuring the engineman. Three hundred passengers were severely shaken.

Officials of the road estimated the cost of the accident would amount to $250,000.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

This may get into this great family newspaper today and then again it may not. Instead of being written as the dewy dawn kisses the eastern hills (now I ask you,) it is only 45 minutes until the lunch horn blows.

The reason for all the delay is the New Castle school board. Those folks had more business last night than a bus boy in a cafeteria and they wiled away the festive hours until 1 o'clock this morning talking of this and that. Following which came the necessity of transcribing their thoughts and desires to cold type.

One must sleep even a newspaperman, and the result is that this colyum is later than a dollar watch.

The reunion of the Scottish Rite closes today, or rather tonight, after one of the most successful reunions held in many years. The list of visitors from outlying cities was truly amazing, and the list is being increased today.

Odd J. H. Hartsuff was a visitor on Thursday. You will recall Mr. Hartsuff as the general superintendent of the local Carnegie mill. He is now general superintendent of the Edgar Thomson works in Braddock, Pa., one of the world's largest steel mills.

Memorial Park, or Public Square as you used to call it is all ready for Memorial Day. And the reason it is ready is because Councilman Walter V. Tyler had it prepared. Mr. Tyler has been sick for some time but not too sick to see to it that the park was prettied up for Memorial Day. It looks lovely and deserves your commendation.

Postmaster E. H. Crawford has also done a lot in getting his property fixed up for Memorial Day. A fence has been placed around the lawn, the lawn itself fixed up and it looks like a real postoffice. Now if we could only get that appropriation for enlargement which has been promised so long.

Picking horses to win races is something of which I know little more than nothing at all. But with all this whooping going on about the Kentucky Derby perhaps it really should be mentioned here. All the experts who do their experting for the old ham and are picking a steed by name Reigh Count to walk in under the wire with never a chance to lose. Mebbe so, mebbe so, but my friend John Connery advises me to keep my eye on Strolling Player. Starting at a 15 to 1 shot the odds have been forced down to four to one, all of which makes things more delicatessen. It looks like Damon Runyan, Davis Walsh, et al, against John Connery.
